

Algerian Leader Must Face Trial

ALGIERS (AP)—The leader of the four-day Algerian army insurrection was clapped into a French prison Wednesday and his lieutenant fled into hiding as President Charles de Gaulle reassessed his rule over Algeria.

Gen. Maurice Challe, retired air force officer and leader of the insurrection, flew to Paris and surrendered. He was taken to prison in the capital to await trial and, possibly, a death sentence.

Challe's top aides, Gens. Raoul Salan, Edmond Jouhaud and Andre Zeller, were believed hiding outside Algiers.

Troops were ordered to bring them and three colonels before a special military court on charges of organizing insurrection and usurping power. That is the charge Challe faces.

But Were Still Fired

Two GE Executives Got Orders To Fix Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two former executives testified Wednesday that General Electric had fired them for price fixing even though they had done so only on orders from above.

The witnesses, George E. Burens and H. Frank Hentschel, also corroborated testimony of other witnesses that Arthur F. Vinson, a vice president of GE, ordered illegal meetings to fix prices in late 1957 or 1958, Vinson will testify Thursday.

Both Burens and Hentschel lost their jobs after pleading guilty in federal court to charges of price fixing. A federal judge fined both, jailed Burens for 30 days, and gave Hentschel a suspended sentence.

Reds Reiterate Cuban Support

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin insisted Wednesday that the Soviet Union would keep its promise to help Cuba against attack.

He was asked at a news conference if the Soviet Union was committed to defend Cuba in the same degree Britain was committed to defend Poland before World War II.

"The Soviet government," he replied, "views problems of assistance in a more serious light than the United Kingdom viewed its commitment of assistance to Poland."

"If the Soviet Union says it will extend assistance, it will extend assistance. It will not act like Britain acted before the war in respect to Poland."

Britain declared war on Germany on Sept. 3, 1939, two days after Germany declared war on Poland. Zorin did not explain how anybody could be more serious than that. He also did not say just how the Soviet Union would help Cuba if the United States attacked.

Last summer Premier Khrushchev threatened retaliation by rockets against the United States if it attacked Cuba. He later said he meant symbolic rockets. But he did not repeat the rocket threat when Cuban refugees invaded Cuba with U.S. encouragement April 17 in a vain effort to overthrow pro-Communist Prime Minister Fidel Castro. But he promised all necessary assistance.

Zorin expressed hope that President Kennedy's investigation of the Central Intelligence Agency "will lead to complete liquidation of the aggressive acts which the CIA fostered, prepared and, in the case of Cuba, carried out."

Unless Cuba is left free to chart its own course, he said, there will be "serious strife and conflict whose limits cannot be predetermined."

Eichmann Helped Jews Before Execution Role

JERUSALEM (AP)—Adolf Eichmann was portrayed in court Wednesday as a man who once helped Jews before he became a relentless Nazi executioner hunting for new ways to exterminate them.

A surprised stir swept the court where Eichmann is on trial for his life when Dr. Franz Mayer, former Zionist leader in Berlin, said he frequently sought and obtained aid from the Gestapo officer.

In 1937, Mayer said, he won help from Eichmann for certain emissaries from Palestine who came to Germany in connection with the Jewish emigration movement.

"At that time, I considered him a quiet man, behaving in a very normal way—a correct person," Mayer said.

Mayer said he was stunned at the other side of Eichmann's character when he met him only a year later in Vienna. At this meeting Mayer said Eichmann "looked like a ruler in whose hands are death and life. He would not let us come near his desk. He spoke brutally."

Descriptions of Eichmann by former Gestapo cronies introduced into evidence earlier in the day pictured Eichmann as obsessed with a desire to get rid of the Jews.

Reads From Notes

Prosecutor Gideon Hausner read from notes made by former Auschwitz death camp commander Rudolph Hoess—hanged by the Poles in 1947.

"Eichmann was always full of plans, always on the lookout for innovations and improvements. He knew no rest. He was taken up with the Jewish question and its final solution. It was part of his life."

The "final solution" was Hitler's term for the Nazi plan to exterminate all Jews in Nazi-occupied countries.

The Hoess memoirs put Eichmann on the scene of the Auschwitz mass extermination.

Hoess said Eichmann came to Auschwitz as early as 1941, shortly after it had been designed as the No. 1 Nazi extermination center.

Good Morning!

Never let it be said and said in shame that all was quiet here until you came.

Depress Area Bill Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP)—House passage Wednesday sent to President Kennedy a $394-million bill to stimulate the nation's depressed areas—in just about the form he asked.

The President is expected to sign the bill Thursday.

A last-ditch fight led by Republicans to change its financing methods—which they called "backdoor spending"—was beaten down.

The roll call vote on accepting the compromise version, worked out in a Senate-House conference, was 223-193. The Senate had passed the measure by voice vote last Thursday.

Opponents of the financing provision, including several Democrats, sought to defeat the bill, saying it would force another rewriting conference with the Senate.

But supporters of the bill argued that defeat of the compromise would mean no legislation this session on behalf of the chronically depressed areas. They said action is necessary now to get job-making factories going in areas of high continuing unemployment.

On the vote, 192 Democrats were joined by 31 Republicans for the measure. It was opposed by 56 Democrats and 137 Republicans.

The key dispute was over a provision to finance a $300 million loan program.

The bill as finally passed would authorize the funds to be borrowed from the Treasury as a revolving fund for loans.

This was a provision taken from the original Senate measure. House conferees had fought against putting it into the compromise until Kennedy passed word that he wanted it in.

Opponents of the provision urged that the loans be financed by regular appropriations, as the House had originally voted, to give Congress control over individual projects.

Lawmakers Pass Pay Raise Bill

HARRISBURG (AP)—A package of bills that would increase the pay and pension benefits of Pennsylvania's lawmakers was sent to Gov. Lawrence Wednesday.

The Senate completed action on the measures in a burst of speed unequalled in this year's session. The legislation was adopted in the House last week and received in the upper chamber Monday.

The package was approved by the Local Government Committee and rushed through three readings to permit a final vote before the windup of this week's legislative business.

By a 28-15 vote, the Senate approved a bill that would give legislators an unadjusted $3,000 annual expense account. Another measure proposing a 50 per cent boost in pension benefits was approved, 31-13.

Lawrence in the past has stepped newsmen's questions on whether he would sign the pay-pension increases if they reached his desk.

It was estimated that the package will cost taxpayers $253,000 annually.

Salary Increase

The $3,000 annual expense account, in effect, is a salary increase. The 1959 General Assembly combined the then $3,000 annual salary and a $3,000 expense account into a flat $6,000 salary. That means lawmakers would get —$9,000 a year if Lawrence signs the expense account measure.

The package of bills would: Raise pensions, at the legislator's option, 50 per cent. He would have to contribute 50 per cent of the increase.

Makes the $3,000 expense account retroactive until last Dec. 1, when terms of the 210 House members and 50 senators elected in the previous month officially began. However, the first $1,500 payment

Living Costs Unchanged At Record Level

WASHINGTON (AP)—Consumer price changes balanced out in March to leave living costs unchanged at their record level of February.

The government reported on Wednesday that a slight seasonal increase expected in March failed to materialize and the price level kept steady, as it has for the past half year.

The Labor Department's consumer price index remained at 127.5 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This is 1.4 per cent higher than a year earlier.

Some effect of President Kennedy's economic aid program is beginning to show up in consumer prices. An increase of nearly 2 per cent in retail costs of edible fats and oils in March was attributed in part to substantial government purchases for distribution to the needy in depressed areas.

Foods as a whole declined two-tenths of one per cent during the month—with lower prices for eggs, fresh vegetables, dairy products and meats. Foods are running three per cent higher than a year ago, however.

Among other changes in March were higher prices for clothing, housing and reading-recreation, the latter primarily because of more costly movie admission charges. Gasoline prices averaged lower, as did costs of used automobiles.

Gary Cooper Grows Worse

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Gary Cooper's condition is worsening but the cancer-stricken actor "continues to fight vigorously and unafraid," his physician said Wednesday.

In the first official disclosure of the veteran screen star's ailment, Dr. Rexford Kennerly said: "Gary Cooper is a victim of advanced cancer. In 1960 he underwent surgery for carcinoma of the colon. Several months ago, the malignancy was discovered at multiple sites throughout the body."

"In the past week there has been a worsening of his general condition and there is reason for grave concern."

"Aided by his family and religious advisers, Gary continues to fight vigorously and unafraid. He has been greatly comforted by the interest, good wishes and blessings of his friends throughout the world."

Opposes Any U. S. Actions Upon Cuba

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Brazil opposes any direct or indirect U. S. military action in Cuba—even as a blow against the spread of communism on this continent.

Brazil believes the only solution for the United States, is to learn to live with the pro-Communist regime in Cuba—90 miles from U. S. shores—while Latin American diplomats attempt to talk Fidel Castro into rejoining their democratic family.

Foreign ministry officials, discussing these views Wednesday, said conciliation is the only way to bring peace to the Caribbean. As for the spread of communism, their view is that the United States should use dollar aid and not arms as the chief weapon.

Brazilian leaders say they do not like the type of government in Cuba now, but that they are sticking to their traditional position of nonintervention and self-determination by the people.

They find no clear evidence that the majority of the Cuban people oppose Castro.

Oust Cuba From Secret Defense Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cuba was voted out of secret sessions of the 21-nation Inter-American Defense Board Wednesday.

The board is a military group that meets here every week or two to plan defense strategy for the Western Hemisphere.

It voted 12-1 to bar Prime Minister Fidel Castro's representatives as long as Cuba continues its evident alliance with the Communist bloc.

Cuba cast the lone vote against the resolution, which was offered by the United States, Mexico, Venezuela, Ecuador and Chile abstained and Brazil reserved its vote. Three other countries were absent.

The resolution is a temporary measure, specifying that the Cuban delegation will be denied access to secret sessions and classified documents of the board "as long as there exists the present, evident alliance" between Cuba and the Soviets.

Moves were under way in Congress to put this country on record as favoring Cuba's expulsion from the strategy board. Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., said he intends to raise the issue on the Senate floor Thursday.

Bridges, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said it is "utterly ridiculous" that Castro's military officers should have access to secret data on hemisphere defense. He has introduced a resolution calling for Cuba's ouster from the board.

Tshombe Arrested; Jolted Congo Talks

COQUILHATVILLE, the Congo (AP)—President Moise Tshombe of Katanga was arrested Wednesday after he scornfully walked out of a summit conference of Congolese politicians.

The leader of the Congo's richest province was seized by soldiers of the Leopoldville central government of President Joseph Kasavubu. He was preparing to board a plane for Elisabethville, his capital.

In Leopoldville, Congolese army authorities believed the arrest of Tshombe was an emergency and a strictly temporary measure to prevent his quitting the conference. They were convinced the Katanga leader soon will be released.

Communications with Coquilhatville were disrupted soon after Tshombe's arrest and it was not possible to verify whether he still was under detention.

Storms Out

Tshombe stormed out of the conference after tongue lashing other Congolese politicians as bunglers interested more in solving the Congo's problems.

He bitterly denounced them as "vassals of the United Nations." As he left, Foreign Minister Justine Bomboko was announcing the central government's agreement on a U. N. return to the key port of Mbandi and an end of the Congolese stalemate on U. N. supply lines.

A U. N. garrison of Sudanese soldiers was forced out of the Congo River port more than six weeks ago. More than 95 per cent of U. N. supplies entered the Congo by way of Mbandi.

But even as the Mbandi agreement held out prospects of a smoother course for Congo affairs, Tshombe's arrest once more threatened fresh turmoil.

Twenty Congolese soldiers surrounded Tshombe's presidential party in the airport terminal building. Tshombe, his foreign minister, Evariste Kimba, and two civilian advisers, were starting to leave the terminal to board their private aircraft. Others in the Tshombe motorcade were turned back from the airport at the gates.

Propose Hike In Subsidies

HARRISBURG (AP)—An increase in state subsidies to schools for drivers' training programs was proposed in the Senate on Wednesday by the Senate Education Committee chairman and the former chairman.

Sen. Jo Hays, D-Centre, the present chairman, and Sen. Paul Wagner, R-Schuylkill, introduced a package of three bills that would increase the subsidy from $32 to $35 for each student completing authorized drivers' courses.

The subsidy would be taken from the Motor Vehicle Fund. An amount equal to 3 per cent of the total subsidy would be turned over to the department of public instruction for administration of the subsidy.

Cuban Survivor Reports:

Invaders Were Torn To Pieces

By SPENCER PEARSON

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—A survivor of the ill-fated invasion of Cuba said Wednesday Castro's army tore the invading force to pieces.

"But we will go back," said Manuel Penabaz, 27, one of five survivors of the battle rescued from a life raft in the Caribbean Sea by a United States ore ship Tuesday.

"We had only a few B26s and most of them were shot down. We were completely without air support for our troops," the lawyer from the Oriente Province said in ship-to-shore radio interview.

"When we landed we tried to get the best position we could, but we had no chance," Penabaz said. He said the heavy fire from Castro's army literally ripped the invading force to pieces.

Five Rescued

Penabaz, who speaks very good English, said Castro's forces were armed with Communist weapons—tanks, machineguns and mortars, all of which he said came from the Soviet Union or Czechoslovakia.

Penabaz and his four companions were picked up from the sea about dawn Tuesday 35 miles south of the Isle of Pines by the S.S. Louise of the Caribbean Steamship Co.

Penabaz was interviewed as the ore ship steamed toward Corpus Christi. It is due to dock at 8:20 a.m. Thursday at the Reynolds Metal Co. dock near Ingleside, just off Corpus Christi Bay.

"We will go back and next time we will need equipment. We do not need people. We need good planes," he said.

Castro's Planes, Penabaz claimed, came from the United States and Great Britain. He listed the T33, A26, and A26 as the planes from the United States. The first is a trainer, the second a World War II light bomber and the third a single-engine attack plane still used by the Navy.

Other reports said Castro's fliers used MIGs, a Soviet plane. Penabaz said Castro's army was made up mostly of boys—16 to 20 years of age—but they had military advisers from the Soviet Union, Communist China and North Korea.

Penabaz would not say from what country the invasion was launched, except that it was not the United States.

He said that as the invasion force started to land, two of their ships were sunk.

Driven Back

After they were driven back to the shore by Castro's heavy fire, he said, he and his four companions found the raft from a sunken ship and put out to sea.

The ship's captain, Payton Bruhl, said all five suffered from lack of water, some exposure, and from bruises and cuts inflicted by the rough edges of the life raft. But he said they were all in good shape.

Penabaz identified three of his companions as Jose Francisco, 25, a law student from Santiago; Rebe Alvarez, 30, of Oriente Province in Cuba; and Orlando Rodriguez, 25, of Havana.

He refused to identify the other companion, saying, "his family is in Cuba."

Penabaz said he believed the five are the only survivors from his unit. He said he did not know of any other invaders who escaped.

Dear Abby

There's Good In Everything

Dear Abby: What do you do when a boy calls you his "buddy" but you want to be closer than that?

This boy calls me every night. He always tells me his troubles and asks for my advice. But when a school dance or something like that comes along, he always asks another girl to go. What should I do?

ONLY A BUDDY: Dear "Buddy": Rarely does a romance bud between a young man and the girl he calls his "buddy." Accept the probability that this boy likes you like a "sister," and don't hope for anything more. Don't drop him because the more "buddies" a girl has, the better her chances are for a boy friend. Every buddy has a buddy, and one of these buddies can become your beau!

Dear Abby: After 8 months of marriage I am seriously considering filing for divorce, but I want to know if you think I am right.

My husband was married before and has a ten-year-old son. The child lives with his mother. She refuses to accept the fact that she is no longer married to the boy's father. She will call here during the week to tell my husband that "Billy talked back," or "Billy said a naughty word." It seems to me that she should be able to handle these trivial matters herself.

Then, too, my husband goes to his ex-wife's apartment every Sunday to see the boy. He spends the entire day there, takes him to dinner, and comes home very late. All this time I sit alone, bawling. I just can't take it any more. Is my marriage worth fighting for?

SECOND WIFE: Dear Second Wife: Why not ask your husband to go back to his first wife and son? Tell him why you ask, and be kindly about it if you can. Don't be bitter or resentful. The gravitational pull of a child is very strong, as it should be.

Dear Abby: My husband wrote me a letter from the Hawaiian Islands, where he is stationed. He said all the women there had "moo moos" and he was bringing one home for me. Is that some sort of cow?

PETTY CHIEF'S WIFE: Dear Wife: No, it is a loose-fitting ladies' garment. And if the fad continues to spread, so will the ladies.

Dear Abby: Please tell me that "let idiots marry idiots" is to be certain to follow his own advice and marry another idiot. I hope she turns out to be a "yesser" like his mother, as it's quite apparent he's like his father and needs someone to make him feel like a "big man."

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to Abby, care of The Daily Record and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Radar Training For Police

HARRISBURG (AP) — Commissioner Frank G. McCartney said today state police will receive special training during the months ahead in the use of radar.

McCartney said special courses of instruction are being set up—with some under way already—in anticipation that Gov. Lawrence will sign the radar bill into law. A spokesman for Lawrence said that probably will occur early next week after the legislation has been studied for possible faults by the attorney general's office. This is normal practice.

The troopers will undergo radar training at their academy in near-by Hershey, McCartney said.

Under the bill on Lawrence's desk, they could start using the device to check for speeders Sept. 1.

McCartney said 19 radar sets are on order. He said his department expected that would be enough to cover the state.

The bill would restrict the use of radar to state troopers and the device could be used only on the 41,000-mile state highway system and the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

McCartney said in a statement legislative approval of the radar bill was "a great step forward in highway safety" in Pennsylvania. Andrew M. Bradley, property and supplies secretary, said bids on the 19 sets were received from the automatic signal division of Eastern Industries, East Norwalk, Conn., and the Muniqu Corp., of Decatur, Ill.

He said the bids are being stud-

YMCA Group To Witness Presentation

THREE representatives of the Monroe County YMCA will attend the 92nd annual state convention of Pennsylvania YMCAs Friday and Saturday at York.

They are W. C. G. Peterson and Mrs. Mary Scheller, directors, and John R. Wilson, general secretary.

Clifford R. Gillam of Buck Hill Falls, a member of the national council and state executive committee, will receive one of two "Master of Men" awards to be presented for noteworthy contributions to the work of the Y in Pennsylvania.

It is the highest award presented by the state YMCA.

Gillam was chairman of the first drive for funds for the new YMCA building here in 1944 and co-chairman of the 1953 drive. He was also a member of the board of the local organization for 12 years.

STAFF officers representing information relative to the administration, logistics and training at Camp Hill and to make detailed reconnaissance of areas that have been assigned for training.

All units of the 28th Division will be training in Virginia this year for the first time since the division was reorganized in 1953. Armor and artillery units of the division will be in training at nearby Camp Pickett, Va., during the summer training, July 15 through July 30.

Lt. Col. John J. Remetta, battle group commander, will head the local contingent. Maj. Gen. Henry K. Fluck, division commander, will also make the trip.

The purpose of the reconnaissance will be to disseminate

Paratroop Unit Being Formed

SGT. DONALD K. Smith, local Army recruiter, said yesterday he is starting to form a group of young men from this area for enlistment in the famous airborne. He said men looking for adventure, travel, a rugged elite unit and higher pay may find it all by becoming a paratrooper.

This group will be enlisted July 5 and will leave as a group on that day. Anyone interested should contact Sgt. Smith as soon as possible at the Stroudsburg Postoffice or phone HA 1-4911.

Size Of Tax Bite

There isn't a wage earner in the land who hasn't learned the difference by now between gross earnings and take home pay. The spread is noticeable even at average hourly rates.

But what most workmen don't see clearly is the leveling effect of federal income taxes.

They think big pay spells the accumulation of great wealth. They don't make adequate allowance for the tax bite.

The annual report of the American Electric Power Co. illustrates this point. The company paid its president a salary of $129,000 in 1960. The executive vice president received $59,000. Here was a difference of $70,000 in favor of the company president.

That was before taxes. Then Uncle Sam stepped in. He took $25,400 in taxes from the vice president, leaving him $34,000. But from the higher salaried president, he collected $74,000, leaving $54,000.

Thus the man who earned $70,000 more salary than his associate actually wound up with only $20,000 more take home pay because of heavy taxation in the upper income brackets.

We who are "little fellows" aren't much exercised about the problems of men whose take home is cut from $129,000 to $54,000.

Yet the real point is that a socialistic-oriented government can pyramid its costs to the place where taxation becomes confiscatory for all of us.

Voters' League Suggested

Is it perhaps time the League of Women Voters dropped the word "Women" from its title, and became simply the League of Voters?

Many groups today attempt to arouse public awareness of public issues. Probably the prototype has been established by the A.F.L.-C.I.O., whose techniques have been copied in large measures by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. We have Republican workshops and Democratic action groups. We have political committees of farmers, doctors, lawyers.

But all these operate on a bias. They are essentially concerned with selling their own political philosophies.

The League of Women Voters also had a bias at birth, the stimulation of political activity among women. Today, the woman vote is a myth, unsupported by election returns. Today, the League's program is of concern to both men and women.

Why, then, continue to practice segregation of the sexes in political affairs? Why not a League of Voters, nonpartisan, objective, functioning to examine the issues and to develop our democracy, organize without regard to sex, party, economic status, or previous condition of servitude?

—Burlington (Iowa) Hawk-Eye

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Who Is Responsible?

The United States failed in Cuba. The camps in Miami and in Louisiana were organized for invasion.

They were camps manned by Cuban refugees who hoped to save their country from Communism.

They were willing to risk and sacrifice their lives for their country and they did. They expected the support of the United States. That support was inadequate and trifling. Castro had ample support provided by Soviet Russia.

The object of the expedition was to establish a beachhead upon which the rebels would set up a government headed by Jose Miro Cardona, Dr. Manuel Antonio Varona and Manuel Ray, three important Cubans of varying political complexion.

Once the government was actually on Cuban soil, it could be recognized by the United States and any other governments. Legitimacy would have the value of making it possible for the United States to send supplies to the government which it recognized.

This legitimacy was only important because some of the experts in the States Department felt that the United States could not violate the authority of the Organization of American States (OAS). On the other hand the members of the OAS have permitted the violation of the Caracas Declaration, signed on March 28, 1954 and which provided:

"The American States declared that international Communism, by its anti-democratic nature and its interventionist tendency, is incompatible with the concept of American freedom, and resolved to adopt within their respective territories."

"The Fourth Meeting of Consultation of Ministers of Foreign Affairs recognized that, in addition to adequate internal measures in each state, a high degree of international cooperation is required to eradicate the danger which the subversive activities of international Communism pose for the American States; and"

"The aggressive character of the international Communist movement continues to constitute, in the national institutions of the American States, and to the right of each state to develop its cultural, political, and economic life freely and naturally without intervention in its internal or external affairs by other states..."

Further, this Declaration of Solidarity for the Preservation of the Political Integrity of the American States stipulates:

"That the domination or control of the political institutions of any American State by the international Communist movement, extending to this Hemisphere, the political system of an extracontinental power, would constitute a threat to the sovereignty and political independence of the American States, endangering the peace of America, and would call for a Meeting of Consultation to consider the adoption of appropriate action in accordance with existing treaties."

Thus, it is clear beyond peradventure that the member states of the OAS are required to join the United States in opposing the establishment of a Communist satellite anywhere in the American Hemisphere.

The Charter of the OAS arranged at Bogota in 1948, sets forth the purposes of the Organization as follows:

A) To strengthen the peace and security of the continent.
B) To prevent possible causes of difficulties and to ensure the peaceful settlement of disputes that may arise among the Member States;
C) To provide for common action on the part of these States in the event of aggression;
D) To seek the solution of political, juridical and economic problems that may arise among them; and
E) To promote, by cooperative action, their economic, social and cultural development."

Obviously, there is ample evidence to establish that Castro's Cuba has violated every article of these agreements. The United States is absolved from any responsibility to associate itself with the OAS unless the OAS undertakes to punish Castro's Cuba. Those who seek a legitimate reason for the United States moving into Cuba alone, can find it in the Bogota Agreement and the Caracas Declaration. If the other members of the OAS are afraid to punish Castro's Cuba, the United States will have to go it alone. After all, even if they agreed to join in any primitive expedition, it would be the United States that would have to go it alone, for precisely how much help can be expected of the Argentine or Brazil or Mexico?

Certainly, time is wasting — as the expression has it! Do we have to stand still until Russia has established a missile and a submarine base in Cuba?

About Town

—By Gene Brown

From James M. Thurber: On love in the U.S.: My pet antipathy is the bright detergent voice of the average American singer, male and female, yelling songs of the day about "love." Americans are brought up without being able to tell love from sex, lust, Snow White or Ever After. We think it is a push-button solution, or instant cure for discontent and a sure road to happiness, whatever it is. By our sentimental ignorance we encourage marriage as a kind of tranquilizing drug. A lady of 47 who has been married 27 years and has six children knows what love really is and once described it for me like this: "Love is what you've been through with somebody."

A man could spend his life trying to learn the tax law and still not know it all. How can we expect 60,000,000 people to respect a law that cannot be understood?

"The tax law will go," he said.

This column disagrees with the Captain. We're for the Income Tax even though we have a "discussion" with the Revenue Department just about as regularly each year as the swallows return to Capistrano. While we may not like the tax, it gives us something to gripe about and it has also made us a race of mathematicians.

The New president of Ford Motors, John Dykstra, a production expert specializing in quality controls, said something the other day that applies to most of us. "Craftsmanship is on display in our showrooms every day. We make cars by the thousands—but we sell them one by one."

The Pennsylvania Story

Ready To Quit

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — The dogs are beginning to bay on Pennsylvania's Capitol Hill — perhaps not without good reason.

In the first place most rank and file lawmakers — on both sides of the aisle — who now have been here four months, are ready to call it quits and head for home.

For one thing they know they're going to be back again in regular session next year — and they also know they face the possibility of being hauled back perhaps later this year, in a special session to iron out both the redistricting and education problems.

Legislative leaders themselves for the most part however would prefer to stay on deck and grind right through for a hoped-for final solution of the two major remaining items.

What the leadership wants

Mirror of Time

—by J. D. Shafer

10 Years Ago

The 190-foot chimney at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College was undergoing its annual check-up for flaws. The chimney has an underground depth of 28 feet.

Shavnee firemen fought a grass fire at the lower end of the Shavnee Golf Course for more than an hour before getting it under control and extinguishing it. The fire was discovered by Sterling Walter who was driving a school bus at the time of discovery.

Col. Phillip Neuweiler of Allentown, inspected the local Civil Air Patrol group. Neuweiler is Pennsylvania Wing Commander of CAP.

The FBI announced that it was celebrating the 50th anniversary of fingerprinting. They also announced that more than half of the American population had their fingerprints on file in their office.

20 Years Ago

A spokesman for the Pocono Mountain Horse Show announced that the annual event would be held in August. The location of the showing place would be announced at a later date.

Max "Boo Boo" Hoff, one of prohibition era's "big shots" was found dead in his home. Investigation by the Philadelphia County Coroner revealed that he had died from an overdose of sleeping pills.

How many remember in 1936 when fire swept through the Devil's Hole section, burning off more than 1,000 acres?

Walt Stern's baseball team defeated the Alumni in a close game on the East Stroudsburg Field. The score was 7-6.

and what the members themselves want too often are two entirely different things. In this case reconciliation of the diverging viewpoints is a little more touchy, a little more sensitive and indeed a little more difficult.

After all, it is the votes legislative leaders can line up within their membership that determine the course of any piece of legislation — and the two remaining items of major import threaten to be most controversial, where perhaps one or two votes one way or the other will make the difference.

In other words it isn't a question now of being in position for any rough shod riding. The pulse of the membership itself will be the deciding factor in this instance.

On top of this, veteran lawmakers recall only too well what it is like around here when the "heat season" sets in complete with exceptionally high humidity from the Susquehanna River that flows virtually under their legislative noses.

To be sure the House and Senate chambers are air conditioned — but after sitting in the air conditioned chambers all day, a brace of the wet hot air outside to those unaccustomed to it is anything but invigorating and not conducive to endless legislative "happy hours."

Then too there are these salient facts:

Insofar as the Democratic Lawrence Administration is concerned, most of its top priority "must" legislation already has ground through the legislative mill.

In fact with their glass-thin edge in the House of Representatives — just two above the 106 members necessary to pass legislation — they feel they have done exceptionally well this session, much more so than they ever dared hope just four short months ago when the 1961 session formally got under way.

In the Senate too — where their position has been even more precarious with their 25-25 even split in membership and the necessary requirement always of one GOP anti-administration vote to provide the necessary 26 votes — they have been flabbergasted by their modestly consistent rounds of success.

All factors considered, administration Democrats are a fairly happy lot.

In neither chamber have they been able to mount any sort of effective offensive — of a holding or retrenchment — forcing nature; that is, the kind for which they have been noted in the past.

Legislative Republicans looking toward the upcoming campaigns will indeed find the table somewhat bare insofar as having been able to store effective campaign material is concerned — a far cry from previous sessions when they had the hue and cry of "saving taxpayers from further taxation" in their campaign bags.

In a nutshell they've done very little in this session over which to chortle.

Thus in nearly one way or another lawmakers for the most part are ready to call it quits — either from a satisfying sense of at least partial accomplishment, or from exasperation in not being able to achieve the elusive goal.

The baying is audible now.

The Allen-Scott Report

Dems Solicit Oilmen

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott
Washington — Interior Secretary Stewart Udall is going to surprising lengths to get contributions for the Democratic National Committee.

A well-known Washington representative of a leading oil company is telling colleagues in that field that Udall, as a "long-standing" friend, asked him to "solicit" them to buy $100-a-plate tickets for the National Committee's May 27 dinner, to help pay off some $3 million in debts still remaining from the 1960 campaign.

Principal speaker at this fundraising affair will be President Kennedy.

Other notables slated to attend include Vice President Johnson, members of the cabinet, among them Udall, Speaker Sam Rayburn and other congressional leaders.

John K. Evans, Washington representative of Asiatic Petroleum Co., a subsidiary of Shell Oil Corp., is spearheading Udall's unusual efforts to find $100-a-plate customers in that industry.

Three major agencies of the Interior Department are: The Office of Oil and Gas; the Oil Import Administration that determines quotas; and the Office of Minerals Exploration which conducts most of the government's petroleum exploration research, and development.

Selected by Udall as overall head of these agencies is Assistant Secretary John Kelly, former president of a New Mexico oil company.

Too Much Oil — Evans is soliciting these Democratic contributions in a form letter to a round 60 of his oil colleagues. Copies of this letter are in the hands of startled members of the House, where Udall served several terms before being named to the cabinet.

Among the Washington oil representatives who received Evans' letter are:

Kermit Roosevelt, Gulf Oil; Frank Rogers, Western Oil & Gas Association; John E. Cain, American Petroleum Institute; R. W. Crary, Standard Oil of California; H. D. Cole, Sun Oil; James V. Brown, National Petroleum Council; Harold L. Kennedy, A.C.F. Industries; J. T. Dickerson, Mid-Continental Oil & Gas Association.

Other oil firms represented on this list are Signal Oil, Texaco, American Oil, Phillips Petroleum Association, Mobil Oil, Standard of New Jersey.

Full text of Evans' letter with a notation that a copy was sent to Udall, is as follows:

"Secretary Udall, who happens to be a friend of long-standing, has asked me as a personal favor to him to solicit the oil and gas industry in Washington in an effort to help the Secretary dispose of his 'very sizable quota of tickets for the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner.'"

"The dinner will be held on President Kennedy's birthday on May 27. Tickets are $100 per plate or $1,000 for a table of 10. It is being held at the National Guard Armory in Washington, D.C."

"The procedure that the Secretary has asked me to follow is to have all checks made payable to the Democratic National Committee, and if for some personal reason you do not wish to follow this suggestion, please contact me."

"Send your check to me together with a note indicating to whom and where you wish the tickets mailed. Thanks for your cooperation."

Senator William Proxmire, militant Wisconsin liberal Democrat, vigorously opposed Assistant Secretary Kelly's confirmation on the ground "the oil industry is getting too strong a foothold inside the Administration." But this opposition was unavailing and Kelly was overwhelmingly approved.

Since then, in letters to Wisconsin constituents, Proxmire has continued to assail Kelly's appointment and to charge the oil industry has undue control in the Administration. Following are highlights of one of these blasts:

"The oil interests have achieved enormous power in the Kennedy Administration. I base my charge on the appointment of oilman John Kelly to the top oil position in the Interior Department following the appointment of John Connally, a Texas oilman, as Secretary of the Navy. "As top oil policy man for the Administration, Kelly has disposed of millions of dollars of his oil holdings. But he continues to hold millions more... He admitted to a Senate committee that he still holds half of his huge original oil properties. He will continue to hold them while he is in full charge of the government's oil program.

"As an independent oil operator, Kelly has a personal financial interest in keeping (foreign) oil out. Who decides whether it comes in or stays out? Kelly!"

"The great oil industry has been successful in putting its men in two key governmental positions with power over oil. These two men not only have a lifetime background of close, intimate association with the oil industry, but they have vast financial investment in it right now."

"More Financial Succor — The inaugural ball, despite the heavy snow and bitter cold that gripped Washington, proved a bigger success than was expected. The final accounting shows a profit of $327,000. Big question within the Democratic National Committee is: what to use this money for. Some party leaders are urging it be set aside for next year's crucial congressional elections. National Chairman John Bailey wants to apply it to the $3 million debt from last year's campaign... Franklin Roosevelt, Jr., is soon going to South Korea on a special mission. President Kennedy has asked Roosevelt to make a special study of relief and other thorny problems there."

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

200 More Eye Donors

Dear Mr. Editor:

On behalf of the Stroudsburg Lions Club I wish to thank you and your staff for the fine cooperation extended the club on the matter of the eye-pledge campaign.

Since you published the eye-pledge coupon, and the other copy about the eye-pledge campaign, the Northeast Pa. Lions Eye Bank has received an additional 200 donors.

Last week at the club's 36th anniversary celebration, the president of the eye bank, Mr.

Walter Hicks, told me that he had received calls that day to supply two eyes. (The eyes are used in cornea transplants to bring back sight to the sightless.)

Yesterday, a Stroudsburg donor died, and since he had pledged his eyes to the Lions, they were removed. Our club president, Dr. Paul Maxwell, rushed them to the bank.

We have you and The Record to thank for the assist.

JOHN M. PRICE, Secretary

New Race Track Issue

Dear Mr. Editor:

I have just received a Legislative Letter from the State Headquarters of our Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women with an introductory comment by Mrs. Ruth Glenn Pennell, vice chairman of the Republican State Committee of Pennsylvania:

"For years nothing has rocked the State Legislature so much, perhaps, as the news that the two Democrat members of the State Harness Racing Commission, over the opposition of the Republican Chairman, forced the granting of a race track license (ironically called the Liberty Bell Race Track) to a syndicate headed up by millionaire James P. Clark, the Democrat finance chairman of Philadelphia."

"You will recall that in the session of 1959 that betting on harness races was legalized by Act 728. As you know, there was a great deal of pressure against the legislation. Many people felt that it was going to bring in more than the money to be received through taxation.

"The experience of similar legislation in New York showed that there was an ugly pattern of corruption involving politicians of both parties, influence peddling, and secret tie-ins with the underworld."

"On March 14, 1964, a report to Gov. Dewey showed that 35 percent of stock in New York State Raceways was owned by politicians, or political officers of both parties, and, according to our minority leader of the House, Rep. Albert W. Johnson, we risk the same ugly consequences."

All this has led to the introduction of H-905 (M. H. Goldstein, Gramlich, Willard, Keiser), H-1254 (Magee), Willard, Strauss, Gramlich, Holman, (McCandless) H-1261 (Goldstein, Clark, Helm and Foor) and S-

448 (Fleming) all regulating or abolishing harness racing in Pennsylvania. House Resolution 56 (Hocker, Helm and Tompkins) was introduced to inquire into administration of the Harness Racing Commission and was referred to the Rules Committee."

This is not the letter in its entirety, but I feel that it is important to share these facts and thoughts with Daily Record readers. For, this is not just a "party" issue.

All the letters you published last year when our Monroe County had to vote pro or con on the race track issue contained both yes and no from Republicans and yes and no from Democrats.

Foresight is better than hindsight. And the old saying can be applied here: "Don't get the cart before the horse."

Because of an 80-plus margin last Spring, Monroe Countians voted the horse and cart out in proper order; other counties didn't, we now have a state issue of such size and dimension that well-meaning citizens in other areas are shaking their head and exclaiming, "Wot happened?"

2 City Youths Lead State Police On 100-MPH Chase In Stolen Car

A SLEEK, high-powered automobile, a quiet country road and state police officers hot in pursuit were the ingredients of a 100-mile-per-hour chase yesterday afternoon near Mount Pocono.

The pursued were two 17-year-old New York City boys driving a red, 1960 American-made sportscar. The car was stolen from a New York City parking lot early yesterday morning, police said.

In pursuit were State Police officers from three substations—Daleville, Mount Pocono and Stroudsburg. They converged on the speeding vehicle from three directions as the troopers relayed messages to each other. The chase finally ended when the youths failed to negotiate a curve on Sullivan Trail road, five miles west of Mount Pocono near Crescent Lake. The car crashed into some small trees and came to a halt as two of the state police cars screeched to a stop.

The youths were identified as Robert B. Percival, 319 East 50th St., and Richard A. Knox, 522 East 20th St., New York City. The car was reported stolen from a parking lot at 945 Third Ave., New York, where Percival was employed.

From the State Police, this was how the episode occurred: Trooper John Luski of the Daleville barracks spotted the car speeding through Daleville going south at about 2 p.m. He took off in pursuit on Route 611 and chased the 100-mile-per-hour vehicle for some distance before radioing ahead to Mount Pocono officers that the car was heading that way.

Trooper James Reilly of the Mount Pocono station spotted the car and gave chase. The race continued down Route 611 and on to Route 940 at the traffic light intersection.

The sports car, with two police cars in pursuit and another from Stroudsburg soon to join in, sped down the old Sullivan Trail road for several miles. When the boys decided to make a sharp left turn off the road, the chase reached its climax. The car ripped through underbrush and trees and came to a halt.

The driver, Percival, gave up to the police. But Knox ran through the woods and tried to escape. He was spotted hitch-hiking along the highway and was picked up by the Stroudsburg state police after they had been radioed a description of him. Troopers Joseph Murphy and John Kinsella returned the youth to the accident scene.

Both are being held in Monroe County Jail, Stroudsburg.

Revenues Up, Expenditures Off Average

Record Harrisburg Bureau

HARRISBURG—Monroe County is above average in revenues per resident, but below average in expenditures per capita, the State Department of Internal Affairs reported yesterday.

The comparison was made in a fiscal report based on 1959 operations in 66 counties. Philadelphia, a combined city-county, was excluded because it is covered in a city survey.

Monroe commissioners reported total annual revenues of $400,983, which was equal to $10.20 for each of its 39,315 residents, according to the 1960 preliminary census figure, later raised to 38,567.

The statewide revenue average of the 66 combined counties was $8.91 per resident.

Monroe County annual expenditures were $345,667, or $8.79 per resident, compared to the combined county average of $9.71.

Not In Debt

Monroe was one of 30 counties listed as not being in debt at the end of 1959. The report listed the county as being able to borrow a total of $5,744,957.

The county imposed an assessment ratio of 43.7 per cent on its $145,499,000 market value of real estate, compared to a statewide average of 33.3 per cent.

The Monroe tax millage rate, based on market value, was 1.748, compared to a statewide average of 2.32 mills.

The Monroe institution district operated by the county commissioners had revenues totaling $151,196, or $3.84 per capita, compared to a state average of $3.41.

Below State Average

The Monroe institution district expenditures totaled $151,182, or $3.41 per capita, compared to a state average of $3.65. The institution district did not have a net debt at the end of the year.

Monroe was among 32 of the 66 counties which contribute to local libraries, and among 24 which make airport contributions.

The annual library payment made by the county was $8,500 while the airport contribution amounted to $7,500.

Obituaries

F. J. Chamberlin, 55, Employee Of Pocono Cab Co.

FRANKLIN J. Chamberlin, 55, of 223 Washington St., East Stroudsburg, died at his home yesterday afternoon.

He was born in Stroudsburg, the son of James and Martha Chamberlin, and was employed by Pocono Cab Co. He was previously employed by the New York, Susquehanna and Western Railroad.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Emma Chamberlin; three sons, James C., with U. S. Army in Germany; Robert F., Columbus, Neb., and William L. Chamberlin, Stroudsburg; four grandchildren and one grandson.

Funeral services will be Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Dunkelberger and Westbrook Funeral Home with burial in Keller's Reformed Cemetery, Cherry Valley.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p.m. tomorrow.

Robert Heller, New York City

ROBERT D. Heller, 160 Camino Ave., New York City, a former Monroe County resident, died of a heart attack recently while vacationing in Atlantic City.

Funeral services were held in Philadelphia with burial in Valley Forge Cemetery.

He was the son of the late John I. and Elizabeth Heller. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Jean Heller, New York, and a sister, Mrs. Margaret H. Zimmerman, Birmingham, Ala.

Republican Club Meets Tonight

THE Monroe County Republican Club will meet at 8 p.m. today at the YMCA, Stroudsburg.

500 More Register At Hotel Show

APPROXIMATELY 500 persons were registered at the Pocono Mountains Hotel and Restaurant Show yesterday, bringing the two-day total to approximately 900.

The show closes today with hours from 2 to 6 p.m. Prior to its opening, a luncheon and fashion show will be held in the Penn-Stroud Hotel, scene of the 12th annual show.

Film Shows Manufacture Of Pencils

THE STROUDSBURG Kiwanis Club witnessed the sound film, "The Life of a Pencil," at yesterday's meeting in the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

The movie was presented by S. E. Firth, sales representative for Eberhard Faber Co., and was centered around the manufacture of pencils at the company's large, new plant at Crestwood Industrial Park, Mountaintop, near Wilkes-Barre.

Firth spoke briefly on the many uses for pencils, included in which were the fields of cosmetics, surgery and the like. He said 1,750,000 pencils were sold in the United States last year under 350 brand names. They were made by 200 different companies.

The common lead pencil is a misnomer, since it has no lead in it, the speaker observed. Instead the core is made of a specially treated compound of clay and graphite encased in a cedar shell.

Firth was introduced by Edward Steinhauer, program chairman.

Harold Cramer Rites Planned

REQUIEM Mass will be celebrated for Harold B. Cramer, 39, of Drake Lane, Stroudsburg, Saturday at 9:30 a.m. in St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church, East Stroudsburg, with Rev. Harold G. Durkin as the celebrant. Interment will be in the Gates of Heaven Cemetery, Stroudsburg.

Friends and relatives may call at the Lanterman Funeral Home Friday after 7 p.m. Rosary services will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the funeral home.

Seek More Land For Oil Leases

ADDITIONAL land is being sought for lease in Monroe County for the possible drilling of gas and/or oil by the Farmers Gas and Oil Co., Inc., Kingston, Thomas Beamesderfer said last night.

The company is seeking land primarily in Tunkhannock Township and is leasing the property at 50 cents an acre for a five year period.

Beamesderfer, a director of the company, said "We presently have three wells being drilled. The closest one is approximately 12 miles northwest of Wilkes-Barre area near Lake Silkworth."

"This well is down more than 1,475 feet and reports show that there is oil and gas at three different levels, but we will continue to drill and there is a possibility of going to a depth of 3,000 feet."

He added that at 1,180 feet the first layer of Chemung shale was struck. This is the shale formation in which geologists say oil and/or gas is found.

In addition to the yearly rental being paid by the company the owner of the property will receive a royalty of one-eighth of the production if oil or gas is produced.

Two other companies, Pure Oil and Phillips Petroleum Companies, have been in the area for the past several months seeking land to lease for the same purpose.

Pharmacists Qualify For State Group

PRESENTATION of copies of the constitution and by-laws to members highlighted a meeting of the Carbon-Monroe-Pike Pharmaceutical Assn. Tuesday at the Lake House, Saylorburg.

It was announced that 80 percent of pharmacists in the three counties are members of the association, qualifying the group to send a representative to the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Assn.

President Harold Waidelich conducted the session. The next meeting will be held May 23 at a site to be chosen.

S. U. Plans Occupation Tax Boost

Board tentatively approved a budget of $1,387,288.38 for the school year 1961-62 at a special meeting last night in Stroud Union High School.

The budget will be advertised for 30 days and the board will meet again May 31 to take final action on the budget.

In other action of the board a resolution was read and passed stating that it was the intention of the board to levy a 30-mill occupation tax in the district.

Five-Mill Raise

This would increase the occupation tax from 25 to 30 mills. Also passed was a resolution to levy a $5 per capita tax. This is the same as in previous years and to levy the tax, a resolution must be passed annually.

A request for $500 from Monroe County Library was tabled until the next meeting. This action will give the solicitor, Edward Williams, time to investigate the school code in regards to the request.

Majorettes Named At Bangor High

BANGOR—Carole Albert will be head majorette for Bangor Area Joint High School's band next year, it was announced yesterday. She replaces Karen Ronca, who will graduate.

Substitutes for Miss Albert will be Judy Luscombe and Carolyn Creighton. New majorettes are Marilyn Butz and Judy Fields with Bonnie Ott as substitute majorette.

Also graduating, in addition to Miss Ronca, are Jean Butz and Connie Kressler.

The selections were made by Alan Miller, Earl Rader, Arnold Wynne, Armon Williams, Miss Janice Kennedy, Mrs. Kathryn Schott, majorettes advisor, and Miss Ronca.

Selection was based on scholarship, marching ability, knowledge of routine, appearance, personality and best original routine.

Stainbrook To Retire From Agency

SPORTSMEN of Northeastern Pennsylvania will honor Carl C. Stainbrook, supervisor, Pennsylvania Game Commission, upon his retirement from that department. A dinner will be held in his honor at the Hotel Redington, Wilkes-Barre, at 6:30 p.m. May 20.

Stainbrook will retire effective July 1 after 28 years service with the commission. He is a native of Washington, Pa., and resides with Mrs. Stainbrook at Sweet Valley, Pa.

Stainbrook served with the Army in France in World War I and is a member of American Legion and Society of 28th Division and numerous civic and sportsmen's organizations.

12th Graders Visit Kulp's

THE 12TH grade industrial arts metal class of Stroud Union High School visited Kulp's Foundry yesterday. Jesse Kulp conducted the tour including pattern making, core making, making of sand molds and casting.

The tour was sponsored by the education committee of the Monroe County Industrial Management Club. The group was accompanied by Robert Wert, English instructor, and John Montgomery, industrial arts teacher.

Making the trip were Scott Horn, Harvey Keller, Charles Labadie, John Recker, Carl Cypfers, Paul Hoffner, John Taylor, Ricky Pierce and Donald Grover.

Mrs. Stuckey Returns Home

MRS. PATRICIA Stuckey of 1809 N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg, has returned from the Hahnemann Hospital, where she underwent "open heart surgery."

She will not be allowed visitors for the next two weeks and then only after an examination by her doctors shows that the excitement will not induce a relapse.

May Widen Intersection Of 209-402

TWO preliminary surveys were made by State Department of Highways officials yesterday on a visit to Monroe County.

The group made field studies on the intersection of Routes 209 and 402 at Marshalls Creek and also studied the relocation of the road leading to Camp William Penn, a boys' camp owned by the City of Philadelphia. This route is located in Marshalls Creek area.

Included in the group were Ed Greenwald, location engineer; Charles S. Sinavage and T. S. Henderson, assistant district engineers; and R. S. Sherr, plans engineer.

The officials will study the two sites, prepare plans and then submit them to Harrisburg.

From all indications, the intersection of Routes 402 and 209 will be widened to become a four-lane intersection. The officials propose to remove the present narrow bridge there and widen the area.

The site has been the scene of numerous accidents, several fatal. Many vehicles traveling north on Route 402 fail to negotiate the sharp turns onto the east-west Route 209.

Cars Collide On Route 209

KRESGEVILLE — No one was injured in a two-car accident on Route 209 at Trachville last night. State Police at Lehighton identified the drivers as Edward Schmidt, 48, of 825 Market St., Allentown, and William L. Hummel, 31, Scotrun.

Troopers said Schmidt was following a loaded truck and attempted to make a left turn onto Legislative Route 13015 when Hummel's car, coming in the opposite direction, and Schmidt's auto swerved. Total damage was estimated at $300.

Aid Reinstated By House Group

HARRISBURG — The House Appropriations Committee has reinstated $2,500,000 in the general appropriations bill for payments to local school districts for closed schools at the rate of $200 a school.

Stroud Union Band Concert Slated May 6

THE STROUD Union High School music department will present its annual Spring band concert Saturday, May 6, at 8 p.m. in the high school gym. This organization, made up of 82 musicians from grades 8-12, is under the direction of John Pyle, head of instrumental music in the Stroud Union schools.

A part of each Spring concert looked upon with anticipation by both participants and audience is the presentation of the Arion Award, made to an outstanding senior in the band, by the Music Parents Assn.

Mrs. Helen Williams, president of the Music Parents, will present the award to the instrumental student who has best shown the following qualifications: cooperation over and above normal duties, general musicianship, music performance, attendance, ambition, diligence, inspiration to others, personal habits, and is qualified to carry on the best traditions of the school.

The person is selected by his band colleagues, the music faculty, and the high school principal. Last year's recipient was Douglas Lee, now attending Penn State University, and although not pursuing a music career, plays baritone in the famous Penn State Blue Band.

Highlighting the program will be selections from the Rodgers-Hammerstein hit show, "Sound of Music," and the Gustav Holst "First Suite in E-flat." Marches, novelties, contemporary and popular music will complete the program.

Rossi Patents Cooker

The Daily Record, The Stroudsburg, Pa.—Thurs., April 27, 1961

THE world's first automatic spaghetti and macaroni cooker has been patented by a Monroe County resort operator.

He is Peter Rossi, owner of Pocono Gardens Lodge in Paradise Valley, just off Route 195.

Although he has no present plans for mass production of his invention, Rossi predicts the cooker will find a ready market once its advantages are brought to the attention of hotels, restaurants, institutions and other places which prepare large quantities of food.

Rossi said he much prefers to have the cookers manufactured somewhere in Monroe County as he is a firm booster of the area and is anxious to contribute to its economic well-being.

In his opinion, a plant could employ upwards of 350 persons in the manufacture of the cookers at a rate sufficient to supply the trade.

Even if as many as 2,000 cookers were made a week, that would be only 104,000 a year, or barely one-fifth the number it would take to supply the 500,000 establishments that would buy one cooker, Rossi said.

If more than one were purchased, and such is likely since the cooker can be used for preparing lobsters, corn-on-the-cob and other vegetables—fresh and frozen—the demand would be greater than he now figures.

Asked about distribution of his product, Rossi said he had demonstrated it before several spaghetti and macaroni manufacturers and all were loud in their praise of the revolutionary cooker, especially since it improves the taste of the food.

Thus it would be to the spaghetti firms' advantage, as well as Rossi's, to push the sales of the cookers wherever their products are served in large quantities.

Using gas to heat the water in a 75,000-BTU unit, the cooker can be converted quickly to a double boiler simply by placing a large pot into the water. The pot is supported by an attachment that fits over the cooker and has a hole cut in the center to fit the size of the pot.

One of the chief advantages of Rossi's cooker is that it frees the chef to do other duties around the kitchen. A timer advises him of the proper moment to withdraw the food, but if he is busy just then the cooker automatically drains away the water, washes the spaghetti or whatever is being cooked and keeps it warm.

THIS IS IT—Automatic spaghetti-cooking device just patented by Peter Rossi, operator of Pocono Gardens Lodge, is demonstrated by inventor (right) assisted by the resort's co-owners, Rossi's son, Eugene (left) and son-in-law, Steve Marciw. (Staff Photos by MacLeod)

INVENTION—Peter Rossi (left) looks on as Peter Mecca, chef, drops spaghetti into cooking basket of his newly patented automatic cooker. Steam is coming from water which surrounds lower two-thirds of basket and agitates spaghetti so that it does not stick fast.

Theory Behind Cooker Explained By Inventor

"APPARATUS for Cooking Farinaceous Materials" is the title of U.S. patent 2,978,975 issued to Peter Rossi, of Pocono Gardens Lodge, Cresco.

Farinaceous materials are those which are made of flour or meal. Typical of them is spaghetti which is prepared for consumption by cooking in water and is one of the most popular foods served in restaurants.

The required time for cooking edible spaghetti is dependent primarily upon the nature of the product. It ranges from about seven minutes for the thinner types to about 11 or more minutes for the heavier types.

The proper cooking time for any given type of spaghetti is also dependent upon the "hardness" or "softness" of the cooked product desired by the consumer and this is accomplished by merely adding or subtracting from the usual cooking period.

In other words, departures from the required preparation time for a given type of spaghetti result in a product which may be either overcooked or undercooked.

However, according to Rossi, the conventional practice in restaurants and other eating places where relatively large quantities of spaghetti are served usually involves quantity cooking or precooking which, as a practical matter, prevents even a close approach to the desirable cooking requirements and in most cases actually results in a greatly overcooked product.

Another problem encountered in the preparation of spaghetti for consumption is the fact that the quality of the cooked product is determined at least in part by the amount of starch-laden cooking liquid adhering to it when served.

In this case also, the conventional practices in restaurants are not satisfactory because they preclude the removal of starch from the cooking liquid during the cooking cycle or the removal of the starch-laden cooking liquid from the surface of the food product after withdrawal of the latter from the cooking utensil.

The net result, according to Rossi, is a product which, while edible, has a palatability which falls short from that obtainable if the starch-laden liquid were removed from the product.

To cope with these problems, Rossi has devised a novel apparatus whereby, it is claimed, spaghetti and like products may be cooked automatically in accordance with the nature of the product and the taste requirements of consumers.

In the operation of his apparatus, the cook, upon receipt of an order for spaghetti, manipulates valves to cause hot water to enter the cooking well of the mechanism and which set into action the burners that raise the temperature of such water to the boiling point. The desired quantity of spaghetti is placed in a container which, in turn, is positioned in the cooking well.

Thereupon, a timer is set for the desired preparation period and, without further attention on the part of personnel, the cooking operation proceeds until it is stopped automatically at the expiration of the preset time. This results in the sounding of a bell or the like which summons the cook who manually operates a valve which causes water to flow and remove any starch-laden or frothy liquid which may be present on the cooked product.

It should be noted that the apparatus of Rossi's invention is of such construction that the starch froth, which accumulates on the surface of the cooking liquid, is removed automatically and continuously during the cooking process. Thus, only a minimum amount of the starch-laden liquid needs to be removed from the finished product.

Furthermore, because of the automatic timing feature of the apparatus, personnel are free to perform other tasks during the cooking period and the kitchen efficiency is correspondingly increased. All in all, the apparatus enables restaurants and other eating establishments to prepare cooked spaghetti and like food products of improved palatability on an individual order basis and in a minimum of time.

The cooker may also be used advantageously for frozen and fresh vegetables and is ideal for corn-on-the-cob.

The application for this patent, which consists of four claims of originality, was filed on Nov. 10, 1958.

Extended Weather Forecast

Extended forecasts for April 27 through May 1

Eastern Pennsylvania; New Jersey and southeastern New York—Temperatures are expected to average near seasonal normals with temperatures returning to near normal levels by Thursday and showing little day to day change thereafter. Precipitation may total 1/4 inch or more, occurring mainly as showers about Friday or Friday night and again about Saturday night.

Middle Atlantic States—Temperatures will average slightly above normal. Cooler Thursday will be followed by warmer Friday and cooler over the weekend. Rain amounts will average more than 1/4 inch, occurring over the weekend.

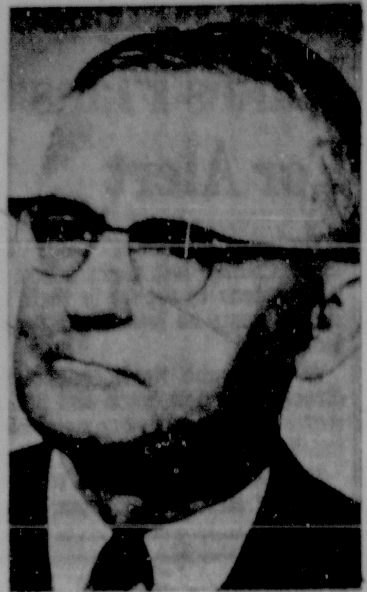

Jobless Fund Continues Drop

HARRISBURG — The State Treasury reported this week that as of last Friday the balance in the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund was down to $39,849,039.

In 1948, the balance in the fund was $846,000,000. At that time the legislature changed the formula for payroll contributions by employers, reducing them to the point where when the recession struck the fund was rapidly depleted.

Easton Attorney To Speak At Bangor Masonic Event

BANGOR.—In continuing the celebration of the 75th anniversary of Bangor Lodge 565, F. and A.M., a special breakfast for guests and members will be held at the Colonial Hotel on Sunday at 8:30 a.m. Guest speaker will be Attorney James Hemstreet of Easton, a member of Easton Lodge.

It is expected that more than 100 members will be in attendance.

Castle For Rent

LONDON (AP)—The Duke of Argyll has his 86-room Scottish castle up for rent at $12,000 for the six months he expects to be abroad. Ads say the deal includes a haggler, who will be delighted to awaken the tenant with a tune every morning; and 20,000 acres of hunting land.

Shinkolobwe mine in Katanga Province is one of the world's largest producers of uranium. Cobalt, zinc, manganese, tin and lesser amounts of other minerals are also mined.

ance. All persons planning to be present are requested to contact Wendell Miller, co-chairman no later than Friday. Following the breakfast, members and guests of Bangor Lodge will assemble in the lodge rooms in the First National Bank Building at 10:40 a.m. They will proceed from the lodge hall in a body to St. John's Evangelical and Reformed Church, where Rev. John C. Brumbach will deliver a sermon on "A Masonic Challenge."

As part of the same service the Masonic Quartette of Bangor Lodge will participate in the service with Carl Kressler serving as the accompanist.

Rev. Brumbach is the grand chaplain of the Grand Holy Royal Arch Chapter of Pennsylvania and is also the grand chaplain of the United Grand Imperial Council of the Knights of the Red Cross of Constantine. He also holds membership in a wide number of other Masonic bodies.

25 Awards Presented By Pack 86

TWENTY-FIVE awards were presented to members of Cub Pack 86 at its recent meeting in the Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

The awards presented were: Wolf Badge, Ronald Loysen and David Crane; Lions Badge, Craig Jones and John Lusati; Bear Badge, Tony Hudak, Charles Decker, Francis Bayer and Mike Altomose.

Silver Arrows, Nicholas Zaccaro, Danny Henning, John Appel, Steve Gordon, Jack McFarland and Donald Poorman; Denner Badge, Edwin Miller; Assistant Denner Badge, Danny Henning; Den Chief Braid, Garry McFarland; Gold Arrows, Jeff Remy and Tony Hudak; One Year Pin, Jack McFarland and Bobby Baylor; Webelos Badge, Clifford Bayer, Kenneth Beidler, William Blevins, and Garry Owens.

Following the induction ceremony of the Bobcats the following were introduced as new scouts: Mike Horn, Allan Merola, William Savitz, Peter Hellgren, Billy Bentzoni and James Gerek.

In other business a skating party will be held in the near future with the time and place to be announced.

House Arrests

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Twelve more army officers have been placed under two-day house arrest for making political comments although they praised President Janio Quadros' foreign policy. This brought to 15 the number of officers disciplined in Quadros' campaign to make military men keep out of politics.

Investing In Bank Stocks

By William A. Doyle
Q. I would like to invest in stock of the bank at which I have a checking account and a savings account. But the people at the bank advise against it. Why? Is it because they do not handle the sale of the bank's stock at the bank? Do these stocks give more interest than I now receive on my savings account? Would this be a safe investment? Or would the stock have its ups and downs, the same as other stocks?

A. It might have made things easier, if you provided the name of the bank. Then again, maybe it would have made things more difficult. It's impossible to check up on every bank stock. So, we'll talk about bank stocks in general. The stocks of many (perhaps most) commercial banks can be purchased in the open market. Usually, however, you arrange the purchase of bank stocks through brokerage firms — not through banks.

Stocks do not pay "interest." They pay dividends. Those dividends represent the profits that the board of directors of a bank passes on to the stockholders — the owners of the bank.

The dividends vary, from one bank to another. If a bank is well run and profits increase over the years, the dividends may be increased.

Yes, bank stocks do have their ups and downs in market values. Until fairly recently, bank stocks were generally considered to be rather solid investments — with not too much hope for future growth.

Now, however, more and more people realize that many good bank stocks do have growth potential. The market prices of many bank stocks reflect this.

Q. Just what is the difference between a company's "net income" and its "cash flow?"

A. Net income is a company's profits. It is the amount of money a company earns in any reported period, such as a year. Net income is figured after deduction of all expenses and charges.

Cash flow is a company's net income, plus all bookkeeping items deducted that do not involve a real outlay of cash. For instance, a company might list amounts for depreciation, depletion, But these items are not paid out in dollars and cents. The company still has the money those items represent.

That money, in addition to the reported net income, represents

Cuban Refugees' Morale Low

By FRANCIS STILLEY
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—They are broken-hearted, these Cuban refugees who have lived, worked and prayed only for the liberation of their homeland. Now, they say, they can do nothing more. They have no choice, they tell you, but to leave the matter in stronger hands: "We are planting our final hopes in the United States itself."

Their despair is a painful thing to behold. In little groups they cluster to commiserate over the failure of the invasion that was to have overthrown Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro. They talk of nothing else.

Wait For Aid
At Bayfront Park in downtown Miami sits a group of Cuban women, clad in black. They say they will sit there until "President Kennedy comes to our aid with arms and materials."

There is talk of a giant "liberation motorcade" to Washington to appeal to the President to do something, and to focus the attention of the country on their plight.

Still Recruiting
Recruiting centers for liberation forces were still open, but most of their visitors were saddened relatives seeking word of the fate of loved ones in the disastrous attack on Cuba.

There is bitterness, too, among the 50,000 to 60,000 Cubans here. They feel that the invasion was poorly organized, badly planned and perhaps launched too soon with too few men and weapons.

There is a desperate hope to try it again but the fiery spirit and soaring optimism of the past few months is gone. "We don't see how we can do it alone," is what they say.

Petunias Offer Variety Of Color

By GEORGE ABRAHAM
NO OTHER annual gives you a bigger riot of color than petunias. The new hybrids not only bloom earlier and more profusely, but the plants are more compact. There's a petunia for every situation.

Here's a rough grouping of the types available: (1) F-1 hybrids. Produced by handpollinating, these are useful in beds, borders and porch or window boxes. (2) Grandiflora. Large flowered, ruffled and fringed, with medium dwarf habit. Florists sell them as flatbed plants, in pots or in combination pots. (3) Multiflora. Medium-sized, plain-edged blooms, somewhat more erect in growth, limiting their usefulness in pots, bedding and in mass plantings. (4) Balcony types, called large-flowering bedding petunia, with trailing branches up to 18 inches or more, and with 2 to 3 inch blooms. (5) Dwarf petunias. These make mound-like growth about 12 inches high, are extremely free-flowering, ideal for low masses of color in beds or border edgings. (6) Bedding types. Practically all can be used for bedding.

Culture: All petunias like full sun and a well drained soil. Last year many gardeners complained of spotted blossoms in late summer. This was due to botrytis.

Keep your plants dusted with a fungicide such as Captan and you won't have much trouble with botrytis. In flower boxes, removal of old blossoms and seed pods (before they form) will give your plants more mileage and longer health.

Male and Female Plants: Home gardeners often ask what should be done to insure greater yields through proper planting of both male and female plants. Plants do have a sex life of their own, and in most cases you don't have to worry too much about it.

Annuals, perennials, flowering shrubs, roses, and trees automatically take care of this problem. With fruit it's different. Almost every fruit tree benefits from the effect of a "rooster" tree nearby.

For example, sweet cherries are self-unfruitful, and must be interplanted. In other words, one or more trees must be planted for cross pollination. Sour cherries are self-fruitful and you can get by with only 1 tree.

Sweet cherries will not pollinate sour cherries and vice-versa, simply because they do not bloom together.

There's no truth to the idea you must plant peppers (or tomatoes) closely for fruit set. These plants pollinate themselves, as do most all vegetables.

It's not safe to plant sweet peppers and hot peppers side by side. If you plan on saving seed, sweet pepper seed crossed with hot peppers will produce large "sweet-looking" fruit, with a hot taste. If you don't save seed, don't worry about this crossing.

Pop corn should not be planted next to sweet corn if they both ripen at the same time, as you'll get some pop corn kernels on your sweet corn. Pop corn is late and if you plant it, make sure you use an early or mid-season sweet corn to avoid crossing.

Rhubarb: Is there anything that can be done to make rhubarb growth soft, tender and juicy? There is if you have a good variety to begin with. Rhubarb is one vegetable which likes plenty of water and plant food for fast growth.

If your stalks have been spindly, dwarfed and bitter, then you'd better apply some liquid plant food on them now, or scatter dry plant food around the base and water it in. Cut seed pods off just as quick as you see them popping out. Seed stalks weaken plants.

And don't let the curculio insect ruin your crop. Dust the stalks with rotenone before the pest comes along. Rotenone is harmless to man, but still it's a good idea to wash the stalks off before eating. Never eat the leaves of rhubarb because they're poisonous. When you harvest the stalks, yank them out, rather than cut them off at the base.

African Violets: What causes those white salts to form on the soil of your Violets and other house plants? These are either residues of plant foods, or carbonates from hard water.

If your water is hard, acidify it by using 1 ounce of vinegar to a gallon of water. Water this once every six weeks, on violets and azaleas. Water from a water softener is harmful to most house plants and should be avoided. Don't worry about water with chlorine in it. The amount of chlorine is so small it won't bother your plants.

And don't forget, violets like a bath every now and then. Put them in the bath tub and syringe the foliage with warm water. Dry them off before nightfall. If you plan to go away a few days, put some bricks in the bathtub, and wet papers on top of these. Run two or three inches of water in the bottom, then set the potted plants on top and they'll automatically be watered for days.

A Good Bush: If you're looking for an eye-catching shrub, try the Beauty-bush, listed as Kolkwitzia. This shrub grows seven feet tall, and in June is weighted down with bushels of pink, bell-like flowers, making it an ideal specimen shrub for a lawn, or in a shrub border.

Beauty bush is hardy, grows well in any soil and does best in full sun.

Dried Flowers: This week's domination for dried flowers includes the Celosia or cockscomb, mentioned here sometime ago. Ideal for bedding and for dried bouquets, cockscomb needs no special care.

Cockscombs should be cut and dried before the seeds start dropping. Hang them upside down in a garage or attic.

The colors sometimes fade in the drying process, but with aerosol spray paints you can restore the colors you want quickly for indoor bouquets. Seed may be sown outdoors. Feed and water the plants regularly so they'll make husky growth.

Question Box

E.R.T. of Bartonsville:
"We have a steep slope on our back yard and I'd like some plants which could be used for ground covers, as it is too steep to mow. Can you help us?"

There are two ways to handle your problem: (1) Resort to dry stone walls, or (2) resort to plants. If you like ground covers, try Bugle weed (Ajuga reptans), vinca or myrtle. Japanese Spurge (Pachysandra), Baltic Ivy, Lily-of-the-valley, Hardy Geranium, Moss Pink (Phlox subulata), Creeping Charlie or Moneywort, the latter being a faster grower and may get out of hand.

For shrubs on slopes, try coralberry, snowberry, Japanese Barberry (also purple-leaved types), Weeping forsythia which trails down to a height of 8 feet. And don't forget your rock gardens. They're coming back strong and are ideal to handle slope problems.

Use pretty rocks, all of one kind, so you won't have that "rockpile" effect. Use annuals such as sweet alyssum, portulaca, Golden tuft, snow-on-the-mountain, and some bulbous items such as crocus, snowdrop, tulips, grape hyacinth, autumn crocus and Narcissus.

P.R. of Wind Gap: "We have two upright yews, two spreading yews next to our cellar entrance. Two yews have big browned areas in the center, as if someone took a blow torch to it. Could this be due to exhaust from a parked car?"

Yes, and I've had the same thing happen to my own evergreens this past winter. Exhaust fumes from an idling car or truck will cause browning of evergreens, due to toxic gases, and heat itself. The only measure now is to cut out the dead portions, if no new buds develop.

Mrs. T.E. of East Stroudsburg: "I received a Calceolaria (Pocketbook Plant) and know nothing about its care. Can it be saved over?"

This item likes a bright window with temperature of 70 degs. during the day and about 50 degs. F. at night for extra mileage. Give it a uniform supply of water, never allowing soil to go bone-dry.

After flowering you can cut the plant back to about three inches above the pot and allow it to send forth new growth. Calceolaria is also started from seed sown in summer. Seed will germinate in 2 to 3 weeks.

Incidentally, too much watering will cause leaves of calceolaria to turn yellow. So do not overwater.

H.L. of Newton: "Please tell me what causes the buds on my violets to drop?"

It's natural for some buds and blooms to drop off even while still fresh. Don't worry about this natural tendency. If plants drop their blooms before they open, look for low humidity, high temperatures or leading gas as the cause.

If your leaves sag and bend over, it may be due to low temperature or crown rot disease. Plants that make vigorous growth, but produce few or no flowers are getting too little light.

Three Elected To MYF Offices

SOUTH STERLING — Three members of the Greentown-Newfoundland-South Sterling Youth Fellowship were elected to offices in the Pocono Sub-district MYF for the 1961-62 season.

Donna Bartleson will serve as faith chairman; Jan Smith as citizenship chairman; and Shirley Smith as outreach chairman.

$7 Million Credit

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — President Kwame Nkrumah's government reports Ghana is being credited with $7 million by Hungary under a trade-technical co-operation agreement.

Five County Properties Transferred

FIVE DEEDS were filed yesterday in the office of Mrs. Jeannette F. Batory, Monroe County register and recorder:

Frank E. Lanterman, East Stroudsburg, to Salvatore J. and Catherine B. Miraglia, East Stroudsburg; property in East Stroudsburg; Pocono Lakeshore Inc., to Marian C. Kouba, Paoli, two properties in Monroe Lake Shores.

Alfred R. and Lula Leedom, Tullytown, to Alexander and Bertha K. Miller, Morrisville, property in Stroud Township; George A. and Jane Patterson, Morrisville RD 1, to Alexander and Bertha K. Miller, two properties in Stroud Township.

Daniel Del Grosso, executor of the estate of Anthony Del Grosso Bethlehem to Frank and John Dally, Blakeslee, three properties in Tobyhanna Township.

Robert P. Eshback

R. P. Eshback Enlists In Navy Service

ROBERT Phillip Eshback has enlisted in the U.S. Navy as a musician.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman K. Eshback of 177 Spring St., East Stroudsburg.

Following nine weeks of basic training at the U.S. Naval Training Center in San Diego, Calif., he will be assigned to the U.S. Navy School of Music, Washington, D.C., for six months.

While at the school he will be assigned to a band to become a part of a well-rounded organization adept at performing classical and popular music.

Eshback is a graduate of the East Stroudsburg Area High School, class of 1959. Prior to enlisting he had attended the University of Pennsylvania.

Employers Face May 1 Tax Deadline

EMPLOYERS in the Scranton District were reminded yesterday that May 1 is an important tax date. Acting District Director of Internal Revenue John H. Rauhen Jr. said that May 1 is the deadline for reporting and paying income and social security taxes withheld for the calendar quarter ended April 30.

Rauhen said that employers should use Form 941 to report their tax liability for that period and mail it, along with full payment of taxes due, to Internal Revenue Service, Post Office Building, Scranton.

He said employers who do not have a copy of Circular E, "Employers Tax Guide," may obtain it from any local IRS office. This publication contains a full discussion of employment taxes, together with tables and percentage methods for computing such taxes.

Rauhen said the law provides that taxpayers who made timely deposits of the full amount of the taxes due for each of the three months of January, February and March, in local authorized banks or Federal Reserve Banks, have an additional ten days, or until May 10, to file their returns. Depository receipts must be submitted with the return, he added.

Probing Prize Offers

TOKYO (AP)—The Fair Trade Practice Commission says it's looking into the possibility that some Japanese businesses may be going overboard in promoting products through prize offers. The committee acted after a chewing gum manufacturer advertised a chance to win 10 million yen—$27,777—by buying 14 cents worth of gum.

Make Replacement

PARIS (AP)—A wooden hydraulic machine on the Seine at Marly, familiar to Frenchmen since the 17th century, is being replaced. Built in the reign of Louis XIV, the machine was used to pump water to the royal gardens at Versailles.

How you can help your boy if he says—
 66 I want to be a newspaperman. 99

Help him the same way you would if he set his sights on any other profession . . . medicine or law or teaching. First, make sure he knows exactly what he's headed for. Then, show him the best road to get there.

Newspaper work naturally attracts young people. It offers prestige, excitement, good pay, the opportunity for rapid advancement—and, most important, the satisfaction of making a real contribution to society. But in return, it requires dedication, hard work, civic responsibility and basic integrity.

If your boy understands the responsibilities (as well as the rewards) of newspaper life, he's ready to prepare for it. The time for him to start is right now—while he's still in high school.

Newspaper work is divided into five major fields. Each requires special skills and special training for a successful career in it:

NEWS REPORTING AND EDITORIAL WRITING—often considered the basics of newspaper work: gathering, reporting, editing, or analyzing the news . . . or commenting on it for the newspapers' opinion pages. These tasks require curiosity, perseverance, the ability to write clearly. They call for training in a journalism school or department, or a broad liberal arts college education.

BUSINESS—under the business department come accounting and finance, and frequently personnel work and sales promotion. Useful here are the ability to plan ahead, to get along with people, good business judgment, and a knowledge of bookkeeping and office management. Some business department positions call for a college degree in accounting or management. In the case of sales promotion, a man needs ability in creative copywriting or art.

ADVERTISING—the department that furnishes the newspaper with most of its revenue. People who sell advertising successfully often have a broad educational background in business, marketing, accounting and psychology. Above all, they enjoy meeting and talking with people, following through on sales problems and presenting new advertising ideas imaginatively.

CIRCULATION—Training and supervising newspaper boys and men who sell and distribute newspapers is the heart of circulation management. Sales training, general business experience and a broad education (including psychology and marketing courses) are helpful here.

PRODUCTION—the department that turn words, photographs, ink and paper into the finished newspaper. The departments offer technical job opportunities in typesetting, photoengraving, stereotyping and press operation. Although a high school graduate can qualify for many trainee jobs, a technical education is very helpful. An increasing number of graduate engineers are being employed in the production department.

Work on high school or college newspapers is especially valuable training for any of these newspaper fields.

The whole newspaper story can't be told here. To learn more about its exciting employment opportunities, mail the coupon on this page. You'll receive a 22-page illustrated brochure, "Career Opportunities in the Daily Newspaper Business," a list of accredited journalism schools and other guides. Why not mail it today?

Baxter Back From Cruise

GERALD W. Baxter, guided missileman third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Baxter of East Stroudsburg RD 2, is serving aboard the world's first Talos-firing guided missile light cruiser USS Galveston which returned to her home port at Norfolk, Va., following a three-month cruise in the Caribbean.

During the cruise, the Galveston successfully completed the historic firing of the longest surface-to-air shot at sea. The firing marked the best of seven shots made during a technical evaluation program conducted for the Navy Bureau of Weapons.

The Galveston visited Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Jamaica and Mayport, Fla., during the tour.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

I have heard it said that if you put a monkey down at a typewriter to peck away, day after day, he would, by mere mechanics, produce enough words for a full-length novel in a number of years.

And today might be just the day to test that theory out because certainly a monkey would have more ideas than I have right now. For a column, that is. Ordinarily, the fact that I know I'll end up the night's work by writing it is always somewhere in the back of my mind.

My sister Carol, who finds four-leaf clovers every time she walks across a lawn, tried to teach me the trick once. "You just look in patterns of three," she said, "and when something breaks the pattern you've got a four-leaf clover."

I tried desperately but it didn't work. However, it's a very good explanation of how I usually acquire column items. Anything that breaks the pattern in what I see or hear or read makes my four-leaf clover.

But I went through yesterday, ear-plugged and blindfolded by my own concerns. Mother finally proved she was born, Daddy's passport came through, and bang, they're leaving for Italy next Tuesday, just like that.

In the background, you were talking politics, discussing programs you'd heard, comparing grandchildren, planning parties, and probably being very brilliant conversationalists with best minds and exciting news. It would be a joy to report—but to me the day was just one big green lawn and I couldn't even tell you if it was moving.

Dinner Tonight To Be Served By Area PTA

The annual turkey supper, sponsored by the Smithfield Parent-Teachers Assn., will be held tonight at the Marshalls Creek Fire Co. Aux. with servings at 5:30 and 7 p.m.

Mrs. Joseph Lyons, ticket chairman, reports that although the 5:30 serving is pretty full there are a number of tickets available for the 7 p.m. serving. Anyone without tickets may check with her if they wish at HA1-2497.

WSCS Studies Plight Of Homeless

Tannersville—"Home for the Homeless" was the theme of a panel discussion held at the parsonage of the Tannersville Methodist Church by the Women's Society of Christian Service.

Mrs. James Owens was discussion leader. Mrs. Robert Bonser and Mrs. Walters, of Wesley Chapel WSCS, told of the refugees in many parts of the world and of the part Methodist women take in helping with the work done to ease their plight.

Mrs. Estella Granacher led the devotion. At the business meeting plans were completed to attend the combined meeting of all the WSCS groups of the Tannersville Charge to be held at Reiders on April 27.

A gift was sent to the Home for the Aged and a donation for the bazaar at Cornwall.

Mrs. Gerald Miller was host to the group and served refreshments to Mrs. Jack Owens, Mrs. Robert Bonser, Mrs. Walters, Mrs. Charles Husted, Mrs. Granacher, Mrs. Ruth Howell, Mrs. Beatrice Besecker, Mrs. Horace Werkheiser, Mrs. Frances Besecker and Donnie Miller.

Rehabilitation Theme For Annual Dinner Meeting Of Retarded Children's Assn.

Anyone in the community interested in the rehabilitation of the handicapped is invited to attend the annual dinner meeting of the Monroe County Retarded Children's Assn. on Tuesday night, May 2, at 6:30 at the YMCA.

Stanley Whitehall of Harrisburg will be the speaker. He was the founder of a Rehabilitation Workshop in Franklin County and is now a representative of the Pennsylvania Crippled Children and Adults Inc., with which the local Crippled Children's Assn. is affiliated.

Deadline for reservations is Friday, April 28. They may be made by calling HA1-4406.

An exhibit of the handicraft made by the Special Youth Group at the YMCA is now on display in the window at Wyckoff's Store and will be available for closer inspection at the dinner meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Johnson

Miss Margaret Altemose Bride Of Richard Johnson

Effort—Miss Margaret Marie Altemose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde H. Altemose, of Effort, became the bride of Richard A. Johnson and the late Mrs. Johnson, of Kutztown.

They were married in Salem Reformed Church, Gilbert, at 2 p. m. on April 15. Rev. Mark E. Michael performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street-length dress of white lace and chiffon and a pearl necklace and earrings. Her shoulder length veil was draped from a crown of pearls. She carried a white Bible and white carnations.

Mrs. Estella Altemose as matron of honor wore a street-length dress of royal blue lace and carried a corsage of carnations and yellow daisies.

Percy Johnson, of Kunkle-town RD, was best man.

The bride's mother wore a dress of blue printed nylon chiffon with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception for 160 guests was held at the Community Hall opposite the church.

Mrs. Johnson is employed at Better Made Blouse factory, Effort. Her husband is employed by Silver Lines, Inc., Wind Gap.

They are making their home in a newly-purchased trailer in Effort.

Scotrun Church Group Plans August Bazaar

Scotrun—Plans were made for the annual bazaar to be held this summer by the Scotrun Lutheran Women Workers. Committees were named to the individual booths. The bazaar will be held in Scotrun on August 16.

At the meeting held at St. John's Lutheran Church in Scotrun, the group also voted to purchase a coffee urn.

Refreshments were served by Lillian Maring and Emma Bloss.

4-H Club At Reish Home

Members of the Stroud Community 4-H Club were enrolled in various projects at their meeting this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Reish by Leigh Reed, assistant County Agent of the Extension Service.

Allen Bond is president of the group and presided at the business meeting when the matter of a new name was tabled until the next meeting.

A movie on gardening was shown by Reed and there was entertainment by club members.

Smart Wife Listened To Husband Talk Shop

By Roberta Fleming Roesch
If you're in the habit of closing your ears when your husband talks shop to you, take a page from the book of Priscilla Calitri who has found for herself a made-to-order job through listening to her dentist-husband.

"I suppose the habit of listening to Harry talk about dentistry started when we were first married," Mrs. Calitri told me recently. "Before my marriage I'd been a medical secretary, so helping my husband with the general office routine and getting out the bills seemed a natural procedure."

"Because we were together so much both at home and in the office I had a good many moments to listen to Harry talk, though I had to be sure to keep everything he told me in complete confidence."

Now, twenty years and half a dozen children later, Priscilla Calitri still keeps up the habit of listening to her husband talk. "It's imperative now," she said, "for it's a big help in my job as features editor for a dental magazine."

How did listening to her husband add up to a job like this? By building up a reservoir of dental knowledge.

Kept In Touch
After her children came, she could no longer work in the office but she still listened to her husband talk dentistry at home, and since the house and office were combined for a good many years, she could still keep in touch with the office.

Just being on the outer edge of somebody else's work wasn't enough, however. Mrs. Calitri needed some work she could call her own.

Like a lot of other women, she'd always thought she would like to write. So during the years she was home with her children, she decided to try her hand at it.

In her case a natural flair for writing, plus her knowledge of medical and dental problems, led her into selling articles to medical magazines, baby magazines and general interest magazines.

"The articles for a medical magazine, plus the things I'd learned from my husband, ultimately led to my present editorial job on a magazine in the dental field," she said.

Wonderful Opportunity
For Priscilla Calitri, a job like this was a heaven-sent opportunity. Her sixth child was well on the way and since her future boss was willing to let her work at home she could be available to her children and the coming baby even though she was working at a full-time job.

"I had to make lots of adjustments, though," she said. "With a family the size of mine, I had to plan for someone to take over many of the household chores. But even with that help I often start my job at five in the morning when I get up for the baby's first feeding. The baby is also my coffee break and often my lunch hour, too."

"But I love every moment of my job. And I'm glad I always listened when my husband talked shop to me."

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Senate Okays School Bills

HARRISBURG (AP)—A measure to establish training seminars for school bus drivers was approved by the Senate, 49-1, Wednesday and sent to the House.

Originally, the bill would have made attendance at the three-day seminars, to be held in August, mandatory. In order to secure enough votes to pass the measure, supported by the Lawrence administration, the legislation was made permissive instead of mandatory.

Other bills approved by the Senate and sent to the House would: Require regrooved tires to be plainly labeled (50-0). Make persons between 18 and 21 liable to prosecution for corrupting the morals of children (50-0).

Bills given final approval and sent to the governor would: Require second class township supervisors, assessors, auditors and tax collectors to be registered voters in their township (49-1).

THINK is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day in a convenient puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every 4 of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message; the letters under the checked figures give you.

New York Tops Detroit On Mantle's 2 Home Runs

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Mickey Mantle hit home runs from both sides of the plate Wednesday, the second coming with a man on base in the 10th inning and giving the New York Yankees a 13-11 triumph over the Detroit Tigers in a wild contest marked by 31 base hits and 7 errors.

The loss was Detroit's first since opening day and broke an eight-game winning streak, the Tigers' longest in a dozen seasons. There were half a dozen misplays that could not be put down as errors in the 3-hours, 20-minute fracas played in 44-degree cold.

Blow Lead
The Yankees blew a 6-0 lead they piled up in the second obtained against southpaw Don Mossi, who has beaten them 10 times in 14 tries in the last two seasons. The Tigers went three runs ahead with a five-run burst in the seventh, but Mantle's first home run tied the game in the eighth.

His winning clutch, seventh of the season, came off Hank Aguirre and made a winner out of Luis Arroyo, fourth New York pitcher. Arroyo pitched two hitless innings in earning his first victory of the season. The Tigers remained in first place in the American League despite the loss.

The Yankees scored five times in the first inning, largely because of two errors by Tiger shortstop Chico Fernandez and a couple of other slippings in the field. Bobby Richardson, Tony Kubek and Hector Lopez started the game with three singles, then Fernandez booted consecutive grounders by Mantle and Bill Skowron.

Slow Fielding
Left fielder Rocky Colavito was slow fielding Roger Maris' fly ball and it dropped for a single. Then third baseman Steve Boros and Fernandez let pitcher Whitey Ford's infield popper fall between them as two more runs scored.

The Yankees built their lead to 6-0 in the second on Kubek's first home run.

Ford himself started the Yankees' stumbling in the second. He gave up four hits including Colavito's third homer, but two of Detroit's four runs in the inning were unearned as the result of a throwing error by catcher Elston Howard.

The Tigers bombed Ford out in the seventh, scoring five runs without the aid of an error. Ford gave up three hits and a walk in the inning before Bill Stafford took over. Stafford hit a batter, walked another and gave up two singles before getting out of the scrape.

Mantle's first homer pulled the Yankees even 11-11 in the eighth.

Pirates Top Phillies 3-2 Behind Mizell

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Southpaw Vinegar Bend Mizell survived shaky first and ninth innings Wednesday night to pitch the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 3-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The big left-hander yielded one run on three hits in the first frame then breezed through seven scoreless innings before the Phils' Pancho Herrera hit a home run in the ninth.

After Herrera's blast Mizell walked Ken Walters, but then forced pinch hitter Lee Walls to fly out and fanned pinch hitter Jim Woods to end the game.

Second Win
Mizell gave up eight hits, struck out seven and walked three in notching his second straight triumph without a loss.

In one stretch, he faced 16 straight batters without yielding a hit. The only man to get on base during that stretch was Ruben Amaro who drew a base on balls in the seventh.

The Pirates, meanwhile, tagged Philly starter Dallas Green for single tallies in the first, second and fourth innings.

Farris Has Lone Safety

Cavaliers Lose 6th Straight To Copley's One Hitter, 5-0

JOHN CHURETTA and Doug Supera teamed for a one-hitter Wednesday, as Copley High School handed East Stroudsburg High School a 5-0 defeat, its sixth straight loss.

Brian Farris collected the lone East Stroudsburg hit, a loop double in the fourth on a change-up by Churetta.

It was the third loss in Lehigh-Northampton League play for the Cavaliers, who have been plagued by hitting troubles this year.

Clint Alden got the loss. He went the distance, fanning two and walking four. All of the Copley runs were earned. Churetta was the winner. He allowed the lone hit. He fanned four and Supera recorded four strikeouts.

Lone Threat

The Cavaliers put together only one scoring threat in the game but a freak double play chilled it.

With one out in the sixth, Don Wescott was on third base and Jim Steele on first. Steele broke for second and catcher Tom Casper whipped the ball back to Supera, who threw to third, to pick off Wescott. Steele rounded second on the play and was caught in a run down and tagged out.

All of the Copley scoring came with two out and most of the damage might have been avoided.

Walks Hurt

In the third, after Tom Brodigh singled, Alden recorded two quick outs. But his pick off attempt on Brodigh at first went wild and Brodigh moved to third base. Churetta was intentionally walked and promptly stole second. Supera, who at the time was playing third base, was also passed. Alden balked Tom Fry, forcing in Brodigh and he hit Bill Deutsch to score Churetta. A single by Henry Lonsenderfer brought in the third and final run in the inning.

Copley picked up two runs in the first inning on three straight hits with two men out.

Auburn Hemus Claims Burdette Is Throwing Spit Ball Again

By CHUCK CAPALDO
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Solly Hemus, outspoken manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, claimed Wednesday the Braves' Lew Burdette throws a spitter more now than ever before.

Burdette, a fun-loving right-hander who's weathered frequent moisture claims in the last few seasons, doesn't even bother to deny the accusations any more.

He laughed off the latest barrage of wet ball claims and got in a dig of his own at Hemus. "I hope he (Hemus) files a formal complaint," said Lew. "He was doing the complaining, not the hitters. And he wasn't much of a hitter himself."

Musial Agrees
A few of the Cardinals' "hitters" did join in the spitball chorus, though. Even Stan Musial, who usually steers clear of ribbards, said Burdette was serving up spitters.

"Why do you think we kept calling for the ball?" Musial said. Asked if he planned to file a protest with the National League office, Solly replied: "I don't think it will do much good. There's no teeth in the rule as it stands now. As long as they permit him (Burdette) to go to his mouth, he'll throw spitters."

Can't Blame Him
Hemus continued. It's his best pitch. The umpires don't stop him so he keeps using the spitter."

Mounties Face Northampton 9

STROUD Union High School opens its Lehigh Valley baseball season today at Northampton.

The game was scheduled for Tuesday but the Mounties were under the impression that it was slated for Wednesday. The mix-up was corrected Wednesday morning but a track meet at Northampton the same day prevented the game from being played.

NFL Video Pact Signed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The National Football League Wednesday announced a two-year television contract with the Columbia Broadcasting System that will bring $4.65 million annually to the league's 14 teams.

The teams will share equally in the television revenue.

The joint announcement by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle and Bill MacPhail, vice president in charge of sports for CBS-TV, said the entire 98-game regular season scheduled will be televised.

Don't Call Me Punchy Says Tony

TONY Galento doesn't mind being called a bum, in fact he occasionally refers to himself as one. He doesn't mind being called other names but he warns "don't call me punchy."

Galento, who was in town Tuesday to attend the Hotel Show as a public relations man for an area brewery, even demonstrated that all his eggs upstairs were hardboiled, not scrambled.

The former heavyweight contender stood on one foot (and at 250 pounds even this could be difficult) extended his arms and closed his eyes. He quickly pulled his arms in toward his face, touching the tip of his nose with the first finger of each hand. With a lamp shade on his head, he would have been the life of any party.

"You know what this proves," Galento roared? It was difficult to give a straight answer.

"It means I'm not punchy," he answered. "You have to touch the tip of your nose to pass the test, not the middle or top."

Many athletic commission doctors use the test in examinations of fighters. Tony was extremely proud that he could still pass the nose test.

"I'm 51 now but I'm still in good shape," he continued, I wrestle professionally. Just returned from a trip to Australia.

Galento is 20 pounds heavier than the night he lost to Max Baer in 1940. Two Ton's last fight, Baer beat me because I broke my left hand and couldn't continue.

Galento had some terse comments on the current crop of heavyweights.

Patterson An Amateur, Johansson Worse

"Floyd Patterson is an amateur," said Galento, "and Johansson is a push-over."

"Sonny Liston can beat Patterson and do it with both arms tied behind him."

Galento also had a few nice words about Joe Walcott.

"He was a bum. He beat guys that I put away early, and I was a bum."

Galento says he had about 148 pro fights and won between 80 and 90 of them.

"My first fight was in Newark, when I was 17 years old," says Tony. "I fought Babe Farmer. I knocked Farmer out in the third round but the bell saved him. But when the bell rang for the fourth round, he was still unconscious and I won by a fourth round KO."

This is not Galento's first trip to the Poconos.

"In 1938," he recalls, "I spent three weeks in Mt. Pocono at a Mrs. Black's place, recovering from pneumonia."

"Six months later I faced Joe Louis in Yankee Stadium. My handlers said I was still weak from the pneumonia and should stay in a crouch and fight defensively."

Offense Is My Best Defense

"Well my best defensive is my offense and I was no good in a crouch. Lewis cut me to ribbons. The fight was stopped in the fourth round."

Galento in addition to his job with the brewery, may go into summer stock. He has an offer to do Guys and Dolls. Galento has appeared in several movies, including On The Water Front.

But Tony's next appearance in front of an audience may be on "Tony Galento Nights," a promotion his brewery bosses plan for the area.

"They plan to hold the night in bars (where else)," said Galento, "and I will be there to show movies of my fights and comment on them."

Tony paused, as if imagining himself surrounded by hundreds of people downing his sponsor's product.

"How about this for an opening line," he offered. "I've watched this fight 20 times and I always get knocked out in the fourth round. I think the film's fixed."

Senators Shade Bosox

BOSTON (AP) — Dave Sisler, pitching in relief of Tom Sturdivant, enticed Jackie Jensen to hit into a key double play Wednesday and preserved Washington's 2-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Sturdivant, drafted off the Red Sox roster when the new Senators stocked their team last winter, turned in an excellent performance, limiting the Red Sox to two hits and one unearned run until he ran into trouble in the eighth.

With one out, Carl Yastrzemski singled—the first solid hit off the right-hander—and Vic Wertz drew a base on balls. Sisler came on and got slugger Jensen to hit into an inning-ending double play.

Sisler put the Red Sox down in order in the ninth and Sturdivant had his first win of the season.

Merger Study Approved By Presbytery

THE LEHIGH Presbytery has approved an overture to the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church USA endorsing further study of a plan for the proposed union of four Protestant denominations.

Rev. Raymond Musselman of First Church, Pen Argyl, was endorsed as a nominee for office of vice moderator of the Synod of Pennsylvania. The election will be held in June at Grove City.

Rev. Francis Seely, assistant pastor of First Church, Stroudsburg, and pastor of the Delaware Water Gap Church, was given permission to work outside the bounds of the Presbytery. He will return as a missionary to Thailand in June and will work with the United Church of Christ there.

In the afternoon session the Presbytery voted to give permission to the Presbyterian Church of Emmaus to borrow locally on a first mortgage an amount up to $35,000 to help defray the cost of their new building. The Presbytery also authorized the Trustees of Presbytery to sign the contract for the construction of the new church building at Emmaus.

Construction costs will be $101,172. The congregation will have a ground-breaking ceremony this Sunday and construction will begin immediately. The pastor of the church is Rev. Gilbert B. Dodd, formerly of Stroudsburg.

Ministers from Monroe County who attended Presbytery included Revs. Gorman Roof, Luther Markin, Wesley Crowther, Francis M. Seely and John A. Bollier. Elders from the Presbyterian Church of the county included Mrs. Charles B. Schaller, Mrs. Mahlon Hallett, Harold B. Croasdale and C. T. J. Willis.

Fingerprints To Be Taken Of Migrants

PENNSYLVANIA will fingerprint all migrant worker crew leaders, the Bureau of Inspection, Dept. of Labor and Industry, announced this week.

Copies of the fingerprints go to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Pennsylvania State Police. The program is patterned after those being used in New York and New Jersey and Pennsylvania has entered into reciprocal agreements with the two states.

John F. Dwyer, director of the bureau of inspection, said purpose of the fingerprinting is to "keep the bad ones out." If crew leaders with criminal records are uncovered in one of the three states, the information will be forwarded to the other two.

Filing Of Briefs Ordered In Pipher-Melvin Complaint

A HEARING on unfair labor charges by two area men against an Easton union ended in Lehigh County Courthouse, Allentown, Tuesday.

C. W. Whittemore, examiner for the National Labor Relations Board, set May 23 for filing briefs in a complaint of discriminatory hiring practices against Local 367, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

The charges were brought by Stuart F. Pipher of Tannersville and Stanley R. Melvin of East Stroudsburg.

Among the charges heard was a claim by Pipher and Melvin that the union discriminated against them by placing them in a non-journeyman job classification group that curtailed their chances of getting employment. Both claimed they have been journeymen electricians.

Opposition charged They alleged that their placement in Group Three of four classification groups used by the union for job referrals was based on discrimination because Pipher twice opposed the local's business agent, George Wilson, for election.

Melvin testified that Wilson told him he "didn't give a good damn about me and didn't care if I starved to death." According to Melvin, the conversation took place after he reported back to the union upon completion of a job in Washington, N. J., in 1958. Union members reported back to their halls to register for new employment upon completion of a job assignment.

Witnesses for Local 367 supported the union contention that neither Pipher nor Melvin had passed journeyman examinations. The local also said that Pipher and Melvin were not properly registered for job referrals. Both complainants testified earlier they had registered, were out of work and were available for referral.

Union witnesses denied this. They said that had the two registered and been unemployed they would have received referrals. The union further contended that Pipher wanted time off after the

ALLEN DULLES, right, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, talks with Reps. Ken Hechler (D-WVa), left, and Victor Anfuso (D-NY) before testifying at a House Science and Astronautics Committee hearing in Washington. As the sign on the door denotes, the meeting was closed. (AP Wirephoto)

25 Students From County Enter Fair

SHOP projects built by more than 25 students from Monroe County entries will be projects schools will be entered in the 10th annual Delaware Valley Industrial Arts Fair, May 17 to 24, in the auditorium of Gimbel's Philadelphia store.

Competing with the Monroe County entries will be projects of more than 1300 students from 95 different schools from 13 counties in the three-state Delaware Valley.

Sponsors of the fair are in cooperation with Industrial Arts teachers. The fair affords the winning students local recognition and a chance to win part of $35,000 in cash prizes at the National Industrial Arts Awards of the American Industrial Arts Assn. at Washington, D.C., in July.

Last year 16 students of Monroe County won awards at the Philadelphia Fair and were entered in the national judging with projects from all 50 states, as well as Canada, Mexico, and the possessions of the United States.

The students represented Pocono Township High School and Stroud Union High School. Gordon D. Taylor is county chairman for Monroe County.

William Reimel In Heidelberg

PFC William N. Reimel, RA 12585057, (TDY) 130th Sta. Hospital, APO 403, New York City, would like to hear from his friends. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Nevel Reimel of Delaware Water Gap, he is stationed at Heidelberg, Germany.

Mathematics Tournament Problem

THE Monroe County Mathematics Teachers Assn., sponsor of the annual mathematics tournament for county high school students, has prepared a series of questions based on previous contests as a guide to the problems to be presented in the tournament next month.

The following is a problem taken from the General Mathematics division of a previous tournament:
One of the greens at the Elm Park Country Club golf course is circular in shape. The diameter of the green is 28 feet. Find the cost of reseeding the green at $4.5 a square foot. (Let pi equal 3.14)

Solution To Problem 11
A circle is always named at its center therefore "A" in the center of the circle, "B" is the center of the second circle, and "C" is the center of the third circle. Now to be tangent externally means that each circle touches both of the other circles at one point on their circumferences. The radius of circle "A" is 9, the radius of circle "B" is 7, and the radius of circle "C" is 5. One radius of circle "A" will join with a radius of circle "B" to form one side of the triangle; hence, its length will be 9 plus 7 or 16. Another radius of circle "A" will join with a radius of circle "C" to form a second side of the triangle; hence, its length will be 9 plus 5 or 14. Finally, a radius of circle "B" will join with a radius of circle "C" to form the third side of the triangle; hence, its length would be 7 plus 5 or 12. Perimeter means the length or distance around the outside of a figure so we must add the three lengths and obtain 42 as the perimeter.

Refused to Withdraw
Pipher testified that he refused to withdraw and shortly after the 1957 election, charges of holding clandestine meetings outside the union were filed against him by two union members. Pipher testified that the executive board found him guilty and fined him $500 and imposed a five-year suspension on him. The suspension later was changed to three years, he said.

Pipher said that he appealed the case to the international union, which overturned the conviction on technical grounds.

Pipher said that after the 1959 election, he found it difficult to obtain work through the local.

History Favors Snow On Friday

GREENTOWN — A word to the wise in the Poconos: "Keep those snow shovels handy." Friday, April 28, according to Max Hazelton, is the date you can expect snow.

It seems that Friday is Max's birthday and for nearly as many years as he can remember it has snowed on that date.

Further Talks

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Sources here report African chiefs of state who met last January will hold further talks probably during the next two months on Algeria and the Congo.

Presbytery Names Chairmen For Home Expansion Drive

CLYDE J. SIEGFRIED, Bethlehem, and Rev. Frederick B. Crane, Hazleton, are serving as co-chairmen of the Lehigh Presbytery phase of the Presbyterian Homes of Central Pennsylvania Expansion Fund campaign.

Lehigh Presbytery is one of six which are cooperating in the campaign to raise $800,000 to expand and improve homes for the Aging operated by the Presbyteries.

Two of the eight homes in the program are located in Hazleton. These are being expanded and improved to accommodate nine additional residents.

This is the first extensive capital funds campaign to be conducted by the Homes in their 33 years of service. Forty-one members of Lehigh Presbytery churches have been residents of the Homes, with 18 persons presently being served.

In addition to the enlargement program at Hazleton, funds will also be used to construct new 24-room homes at Kittanning and Williamsport, enlarge and improve the Kennett Square Home, and for renovations to existing homes.

David Miller To Present Program

BRODHEADSVILLE—A demonstration of hypnotism sponsored by the Senior Class of Pleasant Valley High will be held Saturday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Pleasant Valley High School.

David Miller will present a program of hypnotic phenomena. He will work directly with volunteers of the audience, using a method of mass hypnosis. He will produce negative and positive illusions as well as anesthesia and age regression.

There will be a demonstration and explanation of the uses of hypnotism in medicine as well as several demonstrations of post-hypnotic suggestion.

Miller appears regular in many hotels of the area, entertaining more than 30,000 people each year. He also works with members of the medical profession and has presented demonstrations for medical and religious groups.

No one can possibly be hypnotized without his consent, Miller emphasizes. In addition to the entertainment values of the program, each step is explained.

The funds received from this event will help sponsor the class trip to Washington, D.C.

Jobless Apply

New Food Stamp Plan Launched

WELCH, W. Va. (AP)—Jobless men and some wives stood in line Wednesday to get their names on the list for a new kind of government help in the struggle to feed their families.

On the first day for applications, they were signing up for President Kennedy's experimental food stamp program. It is being tried out here in coal-mining McDowell County and seven other unemployment-plagued localities in other states.

The purpose is simply to assure needy families of enough to eat. The stamps will be redeemed at stores for food, and the government will reimburse the grocers.

Stamps distribution won't start until June. What began Wednesday was the screening process—determining who is eligible and to what extent.

Some persons will get enough stamps free to feed their families. Others, with more income, will be expected to pay for part of their monthly allotments of stamps.

New HOSTESS ENGLISH MUFFINS come to you...

FORK-SPLIT for convenience

and MADE WITH ALL BUTTER for flavor

Hostess splits English Muffins the way they're supposed to be split—gently, evenly, perfectly—with a special fork device. Each muffin comes tailored to fit your toaster—to fit neater, to toast nicer.

Only Hostess cares enough about flavor to bake English Muffins the more costly way... with pure creamery butter.
